VOL. XIII—NO. 3780. NEW-YORK, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1863. PRICE THREE CENTS.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In the year 1846, the writer of this article embarked in the Drug business in the City of Philadelphia, where he has been engaged now over sixteen years in the manufacture of Pharmaceutical Preparations of various descriptions. But for the last ten years, most of his time has been employed in the manufacture of the various Solid and Fluid Extracts.

Most prominent among those to which he desires to call the particular attention of the Faculty, Druggists and the Public, are the Highly Concentrated Fluid Extract Buchu, and Highly Concentrated Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla.

Both of these are prepared on purely scientific principles, (in vacuo,) and embody the full strength of the various ingredients entering into their composition. These medicines require considerable care in the preparation, and the employment of different menstrua in successive operations to take up the extract matters, and, in consequence, are most frequently improperly made, and not unfrequently much impaired, if not rendered totally inert, by the injudicious and unskillful management of those unacquainted with pharmaceutical preparations.

My EXTRACT BUCHU, upon inspection, will be found to be of the odor, color and taste of the plant of that name, and not a dark, glutinous preparation. A ready and conclusive test will be a comparison of its properties with those set forth in the United States Dispensatory.

The EXTRACT SARSPARILLA is far superior to any preparation that has ever come to my notice as a blood purifying agent. A tablespoonful of the Extract Sarsparilla added to a pint of water, is fully equal to the celebrated Lisbon Diet Drink, so much used by enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes and all ages.

One bottle is fully equal in strength to one gallon of the syrup or decoction as usually made, and hundreds of druggists throughout the country have adopted it in making their syrups of this name.

I desire in this connection to make a plain statement of facts, being prompted to do so:

First—By a consideration of the welfare of suffering humanity.

Second—Because I do not wish my articles classified as nostrums or patent medicines, many of which are made by persons too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less to manufacture pharmaceutical preparations.

These persons advertise. This I am compelled to do, to bring my name before the public, conscientiously believing that I have the most valuable articles that were ever advertised. They have been advertised over ten years, commencing in a small way, and have not only sustained their reputation, but their popularity has extended to all parts of the United States, and widely throughout foreign countries.

As before remarked, I, in common with the manufacturers of Patent Medicines, advertise my Medicines. But how short-lived have been the thousands of these articles! And yet there are many persons who will continue to think that merit in the article is not essential to success.

My course in many particulars has been quite different from that of any others. With over 30,000 unsolicited certificates and recommendatory letters from all sections, many of which are from the highest sources, including eminent Physicians, Clergymen, Statesmen, &c., I have not been in the habit of resorting to their publication in the newspapers. I do not do this, for the reason that, as my articles rank as standard remedies, they do not need to be propped up by certificates. I may, however, without too much deviation from my plan, present here a specimen—one selected by chance from the great number at hand. Read the following certificate of a cure of over twenty years' standing:

LEWISTON, Penn., Jan. 14, 1857.

H. T. Helmbold:

DEAR SIR: I have been troubled with an affection of the Bladder and Kidneys for over twenty years. I had tried physicians in vain, and at last concluded to give your genuine Preparation a trial, as I had heard it so highly spoken of. I have used three bottles, and have obtained more relief from its effects, and feel much better than I have for twenty years previous.

I have the greatest faith in its virtues and curative powers, and shall do all in my power to make it known to the afflicted. Hoping this may prove advantageous to you in assisting you to introduce the medicine,

I am truly yours,
M. C McCORMICK.

LEWISTON, Pa., Aug. 28, 1857.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.:

I am happy to inform you that, after the use of your Medicine, a cure has been effected, and I candidly believe I should have been in my grave had it not been for it.

Your obedient servant, M. C. McCORMICK.

This gentleman offers the following references attesting the facts of this case:

Hon. WM. BIGLER, Ex-Governor Pennsylvania.
Hon. THOS B. FLORENCE, Philadelphia.
Hon. J. C. KNOX, Attorney-General, Harrisburgh, Penn.
Hon. J. S. BLACK, United States Attorney-General, Washington.
Hon. D. R. PORTER, Ex-Governor Pennsylvania.
Hon. R. C. GRIER, Judge United States Court.
Hon. JOHN BIGLER, Ex-Governor California.

Of the whole number treated, as shown by our certificates, 8,720 were treated for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel and Dropsical Swellings. The average amount of Medicine consumed, as per certificates, was seven bottles; the average term of suffering, one year and one month. Of this number 380 were females, 227 children, and the balance males.

10,121 were treated for diseases arising from excesses:—Habits of Dissipation, youthful imprudence attended with various symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Weak Nerves, Dimness of Vision, Night Sweats, Pallid Countenance, great Mobility, Restlessness, Horror of Society, no Earnestness of Manner. These symptoms, if allowed to continue, would undoubtedly result in Epileptic Fits, Insanity or Consumption. How many thousands of the young have died of these causes! Visit our Alms Houses, Hospitals, and Prisons, and see the misery they produce! Out of these 10,121 there were 5,021 males, 3,750 females. The sex of the remaining number were not stated in letters. The average time of suffering was 4½ years, average age, 24 years, average amount of medicine consumed, 10½ bottles. In respect to ailments peculiar to woman in decline or change of life, this will be found invaluable. No family should be without it.

7,200 were treated for Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Pains and Swellings of the Bones, Tetter, Pimples on the Face, and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin.

8,971 were treated for diseases of the blood arising from habits of dissipation. Of this number 2,247 were treated for Syphilis, 944 for Humors in the blood, 1,333 for Diseases of a Secret nature, in all their stages. In this class of complaints patients do not readily volunteer certificates, which accounts for the small number received. Of this number, 4,219 were males, 2,200 were females; average age, 26 years 2 months; average term of suffering, 3 months; average amount consumed, 9 bottles.

The above statistics are taken from a diary kept expressly for the purpose, and with great care.

The proprietor, in making this statement, hopes that his motive may be appreciated. A feeling that entire candor is due to all, has prompted him to do so. I am well aware that many persons consider $5 or $10 expended in any kind of medicine for the benefit of their health a waste of money, and yet these same persons will expend hundreds of dollars in dress and dissipation, and think nothing of it. Such forget

That good health
Is true wealth.

Let us look at this matter for a moment. There are Astringents, Purgatives, Narcotics, Poisons, Diuretics, Blood Purifiers, &c. There is no contradicting the following facts:

A poison for one is a poison for all.
A narcotic for one is a narcotic for all.
A diuretic for one is a diuretic for all.
A purgative for one is a purgative for all.
A blood purifier for one is a blood purifier for all.

With this difference only, that some constitutions require more than others.

My EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA will answer in all cases, and will accomplish as much as any other purifier. I will gladly pay $5,000 for a better article.

The EXTRACT BUCHU is a diuretic, and will act as such, accomplishing as much as any other. I will gladly pay $5,000 for a better article. Both are vegetable preparations, pleasant in taste and odor, and safe, and are taken by men, women and children. Explicit directions accompanying the medicine.

To the suffering I would say, in conclusion, that I have had much to contend with, the objects being chiefly of this description. The expense of preparing my articles is such that I could not afford to commission them as Patent Medicine Manufacturers do, but have been compelled to sell for cash.

Consequently, I have lost much by unprincipled dealers endeavoring to dispose of their own or other articles on the reputation of mine. The merit of my Preparations has, however, quietly pushed them into favor; but you still need to exercise care to obtain my true Preparations.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S PREPARATIONS—EXTRACT BUCHU, EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH.

Take no other. The protection of the public is particularly solicited by

Your obedient servant,
H. T. HELMBOLD.

THE RETURNS FROM OTHER STATES.

THE MASSACHUSETTS ELECTION.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The election is progressing quietly here. No special interest is manifested in it. The vote is light, but it may be considerably increased this afternoon.

At noon the vote in the several Wards stood as follows: Andrew, 1,800; Paine, 921. This indicates a large majority for Andrew in this city.

Last year Devens had upward of 1,500 majority over Andrew.

Returns from Charlestown, Cambridge, Taunton and other places show heavy gains for Andrew for Governor.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Nov. 3—2 P. M.

Additional returns indicate that the Republicans have carried Massachusetts by a larger majority even than was anticipated.

Hull gives 17 votes for the entire Republican ticket to 1 against it.

In Roxbury Andrew was 200 ahead at noon.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The vote thrown in the State to-day was comparatively small, but the Republicans have made nearly a complete sweep of everything.

In Boston, the complete vote for Governor foots up, Andrew, 6,321; Paine, 3,904; majority for Andrew, 2,417; Republican gain on vote of last year, 4,000.

The city of Roxbury gives Andrew 1,089, Paine 530. The vote last year was, Andrew, 973; Devens (Opposition), 1,206.

Salem gives Andrew 1,225; Paine, 421; last year, Andrew, 1,348; Devens, 823.

Charlestown gives Andrew 1,483; Paine, 560; last year, Andrew, 1,488; Devens, 1,065.

It is doubtful whether the Opposition have elected more than six Representatives to the Legislature, and they will probably not elect a single Senator.

Springfield gives Andrew 1,090; Paine, 423.

The four Western Counties elect all Republican Senators, and probably all Republican Representatives.

Haverhill—Andrew, 685; Paine, 202. Republican gain, 19.

Fall River—Andrew, 754; Paine, 81.

Lowell—Andrew, 1,724; Paine, 669. Republican gain, 505.

Worcester—Andrew, 1,810; Paine, 577. Republican gain, 189.

We have returns from 125 of the cities and principal towns of the State, showing the following result: Andrew, 46,324; Paine, 18,220. Majority for Andrew, 28,104.

The towns to come will largely increase this majority, which will probably come up to 40,000 and upward. The falling off of the Opposition vote is most remarkable. Every city in the State gives a Republican majority.

Last year the Opposition vote was 54,000. Now it will hardly reach 30,000. Outside of Boston we do not hear of the election of a single Opposition Representative.

It is believed that the Senate will be unanimously Union.

THE NEW-JERSEY ELECTION.

TRENTON, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Mercer County, Assembly.—Trenton District—Weart, Democrat, 130 majority; First District, Boeurre, Republican, elected; Third District, West, Republican, elected by small majority.

NEWARK, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

East and West Orange gives C. R. Waugh, for Senator, 145 majority. A Union gain of about 300 over last year.

In nine Wards and Townships of Essex County, Waugh, Republican, for Senator, has a majority of 353, a gain of 613 over Gov. Parker's majority, which was 1,081 in the county. The Assembly will probably stand 4 Democrats to 5 Republicans, a Republican gain of two.

RAMSEYS, N. J., Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The town of Hohokus, Bergen County, gives 75 Democratic majority.

NEWARK, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

J. G. Truesdale, of Essex, (Dem.) is elected Senator by about 400 majority.

The Democratic ticket is elected in Sussex County. There was no opposition.

From Warren County the returns are limited, but there is no doubt of the election of the Democratic ticket.

A riot is reported at Madison. Two houses were burned. We cannot obtain any further particulars at present.

BURLINGTON, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Burlington County elects three Unionists and one War Democrat to the Assembly, and Union Sheriff and Clerk by 600 majority—Union gain over last year nearly 700.

WISCONSIN ELECTION.

MILWAUKEE, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The City of Milwaukee gives Palmer, Dem., for Governor, 1,600 majority—Union gain 2,200. Scattering returns show large Union gains all over the State. The Republican majority in the State will probably reach 15,000.

MICHIGAN ELECTION.

DETROIT, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Barker, Dem., was elected Mayor to-day, by about 300 majority.

THE MISSOURI ELECTION.

In the city election of Hannibal, Mo., yesterday, the Republican ticket was elected by a large majority. M. P. GREEN was elected Mayor.

THE ILLINOIS ELECTION.

CHICAGO, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The election for County Officers to-day passed off quietly. The vote of the city is between 14,000 and 15,000. The Republican majority is about 2,300. The vote in the County will probably increase it to 4,500. Returns from the interior are very meagre, but show Union gains.

HOW THE ELECTION PASSED OFF.

Yesterday awoke sombre and gloomy enough. The clouds early dropped a few tears in compassion for the Democracy, who were to be so badly beaten in the State. But toward noon it broke away for the sunlight, gladdening over the success of the loyal.

The voting during the morning in every ward was remarkably dull, in some wards not a score of votes being taken up to noon, and the polls, except in few instances, presenting none of the bustling active appearance heretofore characterizing them.

Universal quiet prevailed throughout the City. At none of the Districts were there disturbances of any serious character, and but at a few were there any at all. Even the Sixth Ward—the "Bloody Sixth," where savage fights on election day used to be almost a necessity—put itself on its good behavior, and so conducted itself as to nearly wipe out the remembrance of its misbehavior of old. Early in the morning there was an attempt made by a gang of rowdies at the Mulberry-street polls to deter men from voting any other than the Mozart and Tammany ticket. They blocked up the passage, swore and threatened considerably, the demonstrations being principally against the McKeonites. They were dispersed by the Police. At Mackerelville, "Australian KELLY" was on hand with a party, and at one time the polls in Avenue C, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, were blocked. Matters looked in the direction of a fight, but the Police took KELLY in charge, and quiet was restored. There were a number of knockdowns in several Wards, but among a class who, the more they are knocked down, the better they seem to like it; but, as a general thing, no election ever passed off so quietly and lazily.

After the polls were closed, large crowds gathered in Printing House-square to hear the results. The

The Second Bombardment of Fort Sumter.

CONFIRMATION OF THE REBEL REPORTS.

The Speedy Destruction of the Work Considered Certain.

NO CASUALTIES ON OUR SIDE.

Throwing Greek Fire into Charleston Discontinued for the Present.

From Our Special Correspondent.

MORRIS ISLAND, S. C., Friday, Oct. 30, 1863.

The firing upon Sumter and other rebel works, has been continued day and night since the commencement on last Monday.

Sumter is being rapidly subjected to a condition that will make it totally useless for defensive purposes—its power for operating offensively, having been knocked from it weeks ago. The sea-face wall is completely demolished, exposing to open view a large portion of the interior of the fort. A small body of men are occasionally seen running round the base of the southwest corner in order to shield themselves from the flying missiles. The rebel flag was shot away Tuesday, but replaced shortly afterward. It is flying this morning from its usual position—the southwest corner.

From time to time four monitors have participated in the assault. Yesterday afternoon a steady fire was maintained by two monitors.

The Ironsides has not engaged as yet.

During the day Admiral DAHLGREN leaves his flagship in the inlet and steps on board a tug which conveys him to a favorable position for observing all that transpires among the fleet. On Tuesday he made the Ironsides his temporary headquarters.

Gen. GILLMORE visits the batteries on Morris Island daily, and takes careful notice of every circumstance no matter how minute, that is revealed in his presence.

The three shells that were thrown into Charleston, Monday morning, have not been followed by others. It was designed to open a regular bombardment on the city during the afternoon of the same day, but for some reason the orders were countermanded.

Our guns are directed mostly on Sumter, although Moultrie, Johnson and Simpkins receive some attention.

The enemy replies irregularly, and apparently with considerable reluctance. A few shell have been picked up which bear marks of not being over a week from the foundry.

The enemy has not done us a particle of injury either in the way of wounding our men, or damaging our batteries.

Monday afternoon the gunboat Pawnee ascended Stono River to a point nearly a mile above Legareville. An earthwork, which the rebels had been constructing on James Island, was unmasked, and the working party driven off.

At this moment, 10 A. M., the firing on our part is heavy and rapid. With such a continuous shower of metal raining upon it, it does not seem possible that Sumter can afford even a nook for shelter. Whatever repairs the enemy may have made within the past two or three weeks, it is evident the new work is swallowed up in the common ruin.

The length of time the bombardment is to be continued, and other important facts relating to future movements, are not divulged by the commanding officers.

The primary object of the firing was to prevent the enemy mounting guns in Sumter, it having been reported by deserters and fugitives that he was about to do so on the channel front.

The following order speaks for itself:

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH,
HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD,
FOLLY ISLAND, S. C., Oct. 28, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS No. 94.—I. Medals of honor for gallant and meritorious conduct during the operations before Charleston, will be awarded by the Commanding General to a number of the enlisted men of this command, not exceeding three per cent. of the present aggregate strength of those regiments, companies and detachments that have been in action or on duty in the batteries or trenches.

Candidates for these honors will be nominated by company officers, acting for their respective companies in the capacity of a Board. The recommendations of these Boards will be forwarded to the post commanders, through the usual channels, accompanied by remarks of approval or disapproval of the intermediate commanders, set opposite the name of each candidate.

The list thus obtained will be examined and pronounced upon by Boards convened by post commanders, and composed exclusively of field officers, and will then be forwarded to these headquarters.

II. In honor of some of the brave men who have fallen on Morris Island during the present campaign, the following names are adopted for the works herein-below designated, viz:

The work at Cummings Point will be known as Fort Putnam; that next to it, on Morris Island, as Battery Chatfield; Fort Wagner, as Fort Strong; the new work near the south end of Morris Island, as Fort Shaw; that on Oyster Point, as Battery Purviance; and that on the north end of Folly Island, as Fort Green. The Military Situation—Another Magazine Discovered in Fort Wagner—Personal and Miscellaneous Items.

From Our Own Correspondent.

MORRIS ISLAND, S. C., Wednesday, Oct. 21, 1863.

Since the attempt of the enemy, some two weeks ago, to destroy the frigate Ironsides by exploding a torpedo under her massive frame, nothing beyond events of ordinary occurrence has transpired. The enemy is uneasy, in consequence of our almost absolute silence both on land and sea, as is evidenced by his constant moving from point to point on territory which comes within our view. Although this silence may, in course of time, be interrupted by some action on the part of our forces, it would not be well for the public to be too sanguine of a speedy engagement. A fight may possibly happen within one week or two weeks, and then again the chances are equally favorable, judging from the past, of a quiet time for several weeks, perhaps months, to come. Since the 8th of September, on the day on which the iron-clads last attacked the enemy's works, preparations have been making by the fleet to renew the contest, and when those preparations are complete, we sincerely hope to witness a grand effort, which shall be convincing in its results, to force an entrance to the very piers of Charleston. We hope, but do not predict, that such will be the case.

ANOTHER MAGAZINE DISCOVERED IN WAGNER.

On Sunday last, while Capt. EATON, of the Volunteer Engineers, was examining the southeastern portion of Fort Wagner, preparatory to designing some alterations, he discovered a magazine, which until then had escaped the notice of any of our men. The magazine is located directly beneath the left bastion of the fort, in the form of a pit, and is reached by means of a stationary ladder. When found, its roof was covered with eight feet of sand, supposed to have been heaped up by shells thrown from our batteries. It contained an immense amount of ammunition, including cannon projectiles and prepared charges for rifled muskets. There was also stored away a vast quantity of a peculiar kind of incendiary shell, the combustible substance, other than the powder, consisting of a fluid which was readily ignited and burned with an unquenchable flame. To what use the rebels intended to apply them does not seem apparent, unless it was to fire the wooden vessels of the fleet. A portion of one side of the magazine was occupied with shelves containing several thousand sand-bags made from very white and strong material. Perhaps one and the chief cause of the rebels so precipitately evacuating the fort, was the fact of the sap building by the engineers heading directly for this magazine, which it would have penetrated if the workmen had been allowed to continue their labor one night more. A careful search was made for a fuse connecting the magazine with the outside world, but strange to relate, none could be found, which affords one instance at any rate, where the enemy abandoned his diabolical plan of murdering his adversary, who in legitimate warfare proved too much for him.

RETURN OF GEN. SEYMOUR.

Gen. SEYMOUR, who arrived in the Fulton on her last trip, has been assigned to the command of the forces on Morris Island. It will be remembered that the General received a severe wound in the leg on the day of the assault on Wagner which compelled him to proceed North for treatment. Last Monday he made a minute inspection of the works on the island, and expressed himself highly pleased with the impregnable condition in which he found them.

GEN. TERRY AT THE NORTH.

Gen. TERRY, accompanied by his Assistant Adjutant-General, Capt. A. TERRY, is now at the North on business connected with this Department. For over three months Gen. TERRY occupied the position now held by Gen. SEYMOUR, and, it is needless to add, performed the duties of his office with unparalleled zeal and ability.

A DISTINGUISHED GUEST.

Count ZEPPELIN, Captain on the Staff of the King of Wertemberg, from whom he is supplied with credentials, is paying a visit to Gen. GILLMORE with a view of noting the new military features which may be developed in the progress of the siege against Charleston. He occupies one of Gen. GILLMORE's private tents and is otherwise specially provided for. He is a gentleman of more than ordinary military talent and has a happy faculty of winning the favor of all who approach him. On Monday evening he listened with pleasure to a serenade given him by several excellent vocalists from Companies B and D of the New-York Volunteer engineers, under the direction of Lieut. WILCKEN. His stay with us is not limited.

FURLOUGHS.

A large number of applications are daily made through the proper channels for leaves of absence, only few of which are indorsed with the all-important "Approved" by the Commanding General. To those at home it may seem hard that one who has been in his country's service for over two years, without being absent a single day from duty, should be denied the privilege of indulging in a few days' furlough, but it is obvious that military exigencies prevent too many leaves being granted at one and the same time. Even officers of high rank, unless producing evidence of the urgent demand of their presence elsewhere, upon business of almost life and death importance, are systematically refused permission to leave the Department. It is clear that unless some stringent measures are taken to prevent an army being rendered ineffective through absence of officers and men, the army, as such, would have a brief existence.

OHIO ELECTIONS AND OHIO TROOPS.

Nothing could excel the exultation produced in the army on the reception of the news of VALLANDIGHAM's overwhelming defeat, unless we take into account the tremendous enthusiasm exhibited by the Ohio regiments. On the day of the election, each regiment made up its vote, which, of course, was in hearty support of the Union ticket, and which will go to swell the already immense majority for BROUGH.

A WORTHY EXAMPLE.

The non-commissioned officers and privates of the New-York Volunteer Engineer regiment have formed themselves into an organization having for its object the relief of the families of those of the regiment who may lose their lives in the service. The first meeting was held last evening, at which time officers were duly appointed to conduct the organization. Officers of the regiment were present, and remarks were made by Col. SERRELL, Lieut.-Col. HALL, and Chaplain HUDSON. It is understood that other regiments have taken the initiative steps toward forming similar organizations.

The following General Orders will doubtless have a beneficial effect:

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH, HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD, FOLLY ISLAND, S. C., Oct. 19, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 91.—On the recommendation of the Medical Director, a convalescent camp or barracks will be established at St. Augustine, Fla., where, hereafter, all sick and convalescent officers and soldiers, requiring a change of climate "to save life or prevent permanent disability," will be sent.

The Medical Director will assign a suitable medical officer to the charge of the Convalescent Barracks, who will proceed without delay to St. Augustine, and, under the direction of the Post Commander, will select a suitable building for the purpose, and make such requisitions for bedding, furniture, medical stores, &c., as may be required for two hundred men. A portion of the barracks will be set aside for officers, the remainder for enlisted men. Details for attendants will be made, on application of the Surgeon in charge, by the Post Commander.

Officers will make their applications as heretofore, for a leave of absence, to Headquarters of the Department, transmitting the certificate of a Surgeon, with the approval of the Examining Board.

Enlisted men will also be examined, as heretofore, for furloughs.

The Gettysburgh "National Cemetery."

GETTYSBURGH, Penn., Oct. 28, 1863.

To the Board of Managers of the New York State Soldiers' Depot, No. 50 Howard-street:

The arrangements for disinterring the bodies of soldiers who fell in battle at Gettysburgh, and for their removal to "The National Cemetery," are now completed.

The beautiful hill selected for the dead is well known as "Cemetery Hill." It is a part of the battlefield, having been occupied and held by our forces against the repeated attacks of the enemy, and from its top can be seen, not only Gettysburgh, but also the whole field of operations of the two great armies, which here contended with such fierceness as to leave over 22,000 wounded men on the ground, besides unnumbered dead.

The location of this hill, and the positions of the opposing troops, are indicated on the map as left at the New-York Soldiers' Depot, corner of Howard and Mercer streets.

For the purposes of a "National Cemetery," the side of the hill facing Gettysburgh is laid out in half circles around a common centre, on which it is proposed to erect a monument commemorating the battle.

These semicircles are divided by broad avenues radiating from this centre, and the divisions thus made are appropriated to different States according to the number of their dead soldiers. Thus New-York, having the largest number, has the largest division of the outer semicircles. Pennsylvania the next, and so on.

This simple but appropriate plan was designed by Mr. WILLIAM SANDERS, a landscape gardener of Washington. It can be seen on the map referred to above.

At the head of each grave will be placed a broad and permanent stone, in which will be cut the name, regiment, and State of the deceased.

Between rows of graves there will be paths. Avenues will be opened through other portions of the grounds, and the whole will be surrounded by a substantial stone wall.

The State of Pennsylvania has agreed always to maintain this cemetery, and to keep it in good order.

The country about Gettysburgh has always been peculiarly attractive, but now it is invested with a new interest. It holds the bodies and tells of the deeds of soldiers from every State in the Union. Their resting places should be among the beautiful hills and valleys which witnessed their bravery. Hundreds of visitors are already coming to this place as one of national interest, and yet we are informed that some of the citizens of New-York and others intend removing their dead from this ground, which forms a part of their history. It is believed that these removals are made through ignorance of the facts which should prevent them. New-York has over six hundred soldiers buried here. The suggestion of this cemetery came from one of her citizens, Dr. THEODORE DIMON, of Auburn. It will save many poor families from expense of removal and burial and monuments; the State should therefore encourage the plan. DAVID WILLS, Esq., of Gettysburgh, acts for all the States, as well as for Pennsylvania, in the arrangement and care of the cemetery. His character and position insure the most careful and upright management. Mr. TOWNSEND, of Rahway, N. J., is superintendent of the cemetery, and appears to be well qualified for the position. Mr. WILLS has also employed a trustworthy man to superintend all the removals, and from my own observation I can say that the bodies of the dead are moved with all the care and respect which a father or brother could desire. Many who came here with the intention of taking the bodies of soldiers to their own States, have preferred to leave them in this National cemetery as their most appropriate and distinguished burial place.

The bodies of the unknown will be removed first. The superintendent examines their clothing for any possible evidence of their names and residence. He has thus discovered the rank of several officers whose names are still unknown.

Col. RAKEY, of Vermont; Mr. SCOBEY, of New-Jersey, and Mr. BROWN, of Ohio, are now here. Mr. MONROE, of Rhode Island, and Col. CHILDS, of Connecticut, were here yesterday. They, as the agents of these States, and all who have been here, approve of the arrangements made by Mr. WILLS, and so must all who are informed of them.

It has been requested by the agents of the States now here, that the facts stated in this letter be published as soon as possible. You will, therefore, please publish them in the New-York papers in such form as you may think best, and with the request of these agents, that the publication be copied by the papers of their, as well as our, State.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN F. SEYMOUR.

GEN. GRANT'S DEPARTMENT.

The Progress and Prospects of Operations at Chattanooga.

From Our Special Correspondent.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Friday, Oct. 23, 1863.

The military situation in this Department, though it may have lost some of its interest because of the cessation of active movements, is nevertheless very interesting to contemplate, and full of features of vital importance. Especially is this the case now that the communications of this army have become the subject of paramount importance and solicitude. Circumstances have recently occurred, and do today exist, which give to this subject an importance greater than would attend a resumption of offensive movements even. That the nature of the country and scene of operations may be fully understood, I send you a map, the best in this Department, which will render my remarks perfectly intelligible. And in alluding to this matter I trust I shall not reveal to the enemy anything that he does not already know.

It has been frequently asserted that ROSECRANS' advance into Georgia was for the purpose of securing Chattanooga; and that the battle of Chicamauga was fought to secure that point. Granting that the battle secured us the permanent possession of the place, there yet remains the fact that Chattanooga was actually in our possession days before the fight, and that it might have been held and fortified, just as it is now, without losing a man or a gun. Our forces (CHITTENDEN's corps), moved out of Chattanooga on their advance southward. This corps was the left of the line. McCOOK's corps, which had the right of the line, crossed the Tennessee at Caperton's Ferry, immediately south of Stevenson, and then moved upon Alpine, Georgia, near the Alabama State Line, and distant about twenty-five miles from Rome. This was our extreme right, and it was not less than forty miles south of Chattanooga in a direct line. Gen. THOMAS held the centre in front of Lafayette, and our line was then, from flank to flank, forty-five miles long, extending in a direction from north east to south west. BRAGG was suddenly found concentrating his whole army at Lafayette, and threatening our exposed centre. Our army was concentrated in front of him with all possible speed. McCOOK marched hastily back; THOMAS also fell back and CRITTENDEN came up—all barely in time to avoid being whipped in detail. The battle was fought, and our army forced back to Chattanooga.

The advance into Georgia was for the purpose of striking Rome and Atlanta. As it was, our cavalry might have gone there—certainly ought to have gone to Rome from Alpine. But they did not, and the rebel line of communication not being touched, the enemy held his own ground, and followed us to the gates of Chattanooga.

Whoever ordered the movement beyond Chattanooga, before railroad and water communication was opened to that place, committed a gross blunder, if not a great crime. No peril that ever beset the Army of the Cumberland, is so great as the one resulting from this blunder. The army retreated hastily upon Chattanooga. The position was selected, and it was found that to hold Chattanooga, and to hold Lookout Mountain, which commands Chattanooga and the railroad, was impossible; or if possible, it certainly was not done. The rebels came and took the mountain, which commands the railroad and the river more than it does the town, and the town and its troops in it are isolated from their proper communications. The Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, by which this army gets its supplies, crosses the Tennessee River at Bridgeport, a distance of 123 miles from Nashville, and 28 miles from Chattanooga. Its course from Bridgeport is along the south bank of the river, passing close to the foot of the mountains, and crossing the small but rocky and difficult streams, each of which has its valley—the Nickajack and Running Water. Chattanooga is situated in or at a bend of the Tennessee, and the river skirts our rear, and protects our right flank. Lookout Mountain stops or begins, as you please, at Chattanooga. It rises abruptly to the south and west of the town, and looks you in the face at all times. Two miles from Chattanooga the river turns again to the west, and the mountain pursues its way southward, never less rugged, nor less difficult, nor less difficult, nor less impassable. Then come those two small valleys, and two small mountain ranges to correspond, which start from the Tennessee and run parallel with Lookout, and lie between Lookout and Bridgeport, the Tennessee again pursuing a southerly course at the latter place.

The railroad crosses the heads of these ranges, generally near the river, but as the river is so crooked, it frequently shortens the distance by passing over some minor ridges and hills.

Now all this country, of this rugged and formidable nature, the enemy occupy, and the easiest access to any of it is by the little valleys between the mountains, which debouche at the Tennessee, and are crossed by the railroad. In one of these, that of Running Water, or Lookout Creek, Trenton, a considerable town, is situated, and was, three days ago, occupied by three regiments of rebel cavalry.

To open railroad communication, this country must be cleared of the enemy—Lookout Mountain especially, at whose very foot the railroad passes. The attempt will soon be made, and may involve a fight.

In the meantime, how does the Army get its supplies? Bridgeport has been the end of the railroad for some time. From thence to Jasper, Tenn., is ten miles. From Jasper there pass over the mountain a number of roads, the nearest of which follows the course of the Tennessee part of the way, and makes the distance from Bridgeport to Chattanooga but thirty-five miles. But the rebel sharpshooters have blockaded this road where it skirts the river, by picking off mules and men at every opportunity. It was only passable, however, for empty wagons, it is so rough; and now the rains have made it so bad that nothing passes that way.

Two other routes are used by teams, but they are much further, sixty and eighty miles from Bridgeport and Stevenson. They proceed up the Valley of the Sequatchee to Anderson and Dunlap, and then cross the mountain—Walden's Ridge—by miserable roads in the best weather, and most horrible roads in present weather. This Ridge I have previously described.

Thus it will be seen that the labor of supplying this army is not only enormous, but attended with difficulties next to insurmountable. They are now to be overcome, but it may cost blood—may cost defeat, for the enemy will be very unenterprising if he does not contest this important point: This might all have been avoided; our communications might have been rendered certain, but for the foolish attempt on the part of some one—not ROSECRANS, it is here believed—to do too much.

Lookout Mountain is not much of a bugbear to Chattanooga proper. It commands the town, to be sure, but only heavy siege guns can do any damage—nothing less than a 64-pounder, and a rifle at that, can plant shells with sufficient accuracy to render our position at all uncomfortable, and there are not eligible positions enough on its side or ends, toward the town, to plant more than one or two batteries. The distance from the point where the enemy did shell us the other day, to our nearest fortification, is two miles and a half, in a direct line, as a shell flies. The enemy's guns on that occasion were rifled 24-pounders, and though the shells burst in the town, in some instances, they were without effect. Though Lookout is comparatively harmless, yet, in the enemy's possession, is a good deal of an eyesore to our troops. It is forever in your face. In the morning you look toward the sky, and its tall summit peers above the fog, and it shuts out the sunset in the evening, and throws a tall shadow toward the town. From its summit, or from a sort of table-rock, a few hundred feet below the summit, a view of Chattanooga laid bare is obtained. Everything can be seen; the fortifications and the guns; a dress parade, a company drill; even the minutia of a cook's kitchen.

On the left of Chattanooga, and further up the river, begins Mission Ridge, a mountain of more modest pretensions. It runs in a southwesterly direction down past our left flank, until, some miles below Chattanooga, its rocks commingle with those of Lookout, and Mission Ridge is lost. This junction forms a sort of pocket, or rather cul de sac, ("cove," the natives call it,) with Chattanooga in the mouth or neck of it. In the point of this pocket, which is directly in front of our position, BRAGG has his nest, with access southward, by several gaps through the ridge, the principal of which is the gap leading to Rossville.

The capture of Chattanooga by direct attack being now out of the question, we naturally turn to any other possible means by which it can be accomplished. It must be a movement by one flank or the other. As our communications, instead of being directly in our rear, are really on our right flank, making a detour of seventy-five miles west and south before the line runs north, that would seem to be a vulnerable point for the enemy. It might have been, early in the season, when the river was low, and the guards on the road very sparse. But that is passed now. The Tennessee cannot be crossed (except by bridges,) at any point between Chattanooga and Muscle Shoals. Every approach to the river is strongly guarded between these points. And no nearer approach to our right flank could be made than by way of Florence and Huntsville, at least seventy miles west of Stevenson. This route the enemy could not pursue, for the very important reason, that it would take him away from his railroad communication hundreds of miles, and it is not possible for the rebels to accomplish greater wonders or miracles in campaigning than have been accomplished by the Army of the Cumberland.

The left flank is considered far more likely to be the point of the rebel approach. The Tennessee, after you reach a point twenty-five miles above Chattanooga, is fordable frequently, though not at present. But the country is mostly open, and the Western and Atlantic Railroad, by which BRAGG now gets his supplies, will follow him almost to the river itself. This road forms a junction with the East Tennessee Railroad at Cleveland, Tenn.

If the approach of the enemy is looked for in any direction, it is looked for from the east. A crossing of the river above Chattanooga would isolate BURNSIDE, though it might not endanger his position; and it would get another fight out of this army.

I have had a fair opportunity of judging of the temper of this army during my short stay here. I knew that it did not feel defeat, but I was hardly prepared to see such an indomitable, cheerful, vigorous spirit pervading it. Though reduced in numbers by the battle, they have not abated one jot of their pride or spirit. With the assistance of the help now coming forward, it will be some time before Gen. BRAGG and JEFF. DAVIS reclaims East Tennessee. I am told by high authority that the troops who fought in the last position near Rossville, under Gens. THOMAS and GRANGER, received the order to fall back, with astonishment and tears in their eyes, for they had repulsed the enemy with great slaughter, and at least one prominent General believes that if the enemy had been attacked in turn on Monday morning, he would have been driven from the field. But the indomitable and invincible spirit of this army is apparent in the herculean labors it has performed in making a campaign through this mountain region. We wonder how the army ever got here. The difficulties of the route seem insurmountable. But there has been harmony and unity and concert of action through this command, and that has accomplished a great deal. It has had but one commander. Previous to the last battle it never felt the influence of Washington.

In a recent letter from Memphis to the Cincinnati Commercial, I find the following, which is very pertinent to a subject now freely discussed here, and which is giving rise to many severe, and probably just comments:

"Gen. GRANT had orders, before the battle of Chickamauga, to send a corps to ROSECRANS. Then arose a difference among his corps commanders as to who should not go. Even after the battle, each corps commander seemed determined that, whoever went to the assistance of the Army of the Cumberland, he would not; and we beheld the melancholy spectacle of a number of Major-Generals asking to be excused from going to the relief of their hard-pressed brothers-in-arms. At last the matter was decided at Washington, and, of course, the corps that was nearest was excused, and the one furthest off was ordered to march—occasioning a long and vexatious delay, and unnecessarily imperiling the fate of the Army of the Cumberland.

If there had been no greater energy displayed in reinforcing ROSECRANS from other quarters than there has from this, he would have had to depend entirely upon his own resources to extricate himself and his heroic army from their late embarrassments. I have heard the very pertinent question asked, whether it was the design to succor ROSECRANS in this war or the next. It is almost a month since the battle of Chickamauga, and yet, so far as we are concerned, old Rosy is alone in his glory."

All this is felt here very keenly. And it is a matter of general congratulation that these troops were not depended on, for had that been the case the railroad would have been ripped up from end to end, and Chattanooga lost. But Gen. HOOKER's prompt arrival saved that, and his conduct is in strange contrast to the spirit noted in this Memphis letter. Though just from the command of an army, he hesitated not to spring to any duty required with alacrity. And likewise Gen. BUTTERFIELD, who waived all preferences, and hastened to assist in the movement, accepting cheerfully a duty which was not his choice or desire.

And, apropos to this, I can state another fact. JOE JOHNSTON has his instructions to prevent SHERMAN from reaching this army, by interfering with his march. This he has been doing, and SHERMAN has made very little progress. It has been universally asserted, and generally believed, that JOHNSTON's troops went to reinforce BRAGG in the late battle. But this is not true. JOHNSTON never sent a man, but with ten or twelve thousand ragged, hungry followers, most of whom have violated their paroles, and ought to be shot, is endeavoring to impede SHERMAN's progress. And it would seem that he is not entirely unsuccessful, if we are to judge by SHERMAN's movements. With his force, he ought to wipe out JOHNSTON's vagabonds without trouble.

Gen. GRANT, accompanied by Gen. MEIGS and Assistant Secretary of War DANA, arrived here last night, having traveled all day on horseback through a driving rain. As Gen. GRANT has a quick eye, he probably discovered the "situation" long before he got here, and saw what is necessary to be done. His arrival has created an unusual sensation in camp.

I have a copy of the perigrinating, transitory Memphis-Grenada-Jackson-Atlanta Appeal of a late date. It is chiefly devoted to discussing the question of starvation, and a portion of its remarks are so significant that I quote briefly. It will be remembered that Atlanta is the most flourishing and important inland town in the South. If these things are true of Atlanta, how much more so of many another place?

"We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that we are fast reaching a point beyond even starvation prices. We are approaching a state of things that will inevitably culminate in riots and bloodshed among our own people. The poor cannot succumb to the privations that must necessarily be forced upon them; they must and will have bread. Their murmurings will find utterance in actions, deplorable and disastrous. But they can be helped, and it should be done; it must be done. Let the facts be looked stubbornly in the face. Yesterday a small load of indifferent green wood commanded $30, bacon sold at $3 50 per pound, eggs, $3 per dozen; while all other articles of prime necessity commanded prices equally as fabulous. Wood can be delivered in this city at $10 per cord, pork at 50 to 75 cents per pound, good fresh beef at the same figures, and a handsome profit afforded."

For the last week or more it has rained almost every day, and the roads are proportionately horrible. "Corduroy" is now the resort, and causeways take the place of bottomless pits.

Of news there is little or nothing to write. Gen. CROOK, on the evening of the 21st, succeeded in capturing Capt. GENLEY, near Huntsville, Ala. He is a notorious guerrilla, chiefly noted for his murder of Brig.-Gen. ROBERT McCOOK a year ago. He soon got his deserts.

Things go on, under the new Commander, without any appreciable difference or change. Gen. ROUSSEAU, for the present, commands the Fourteenth army corps.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

SUICIDE.—An inquest was held yesterday, by Coroner RANNEY, on the body of WM. ADLER, a German shoemaker, residing at No. 346 West Thirty-ninth-street, who committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. The deceased had, for the last three years, been in the employ of Mr. JOHN FELSLER, as a journeyman shoemaker. The testimony given on the inquest showed that at intervals during the last two years he had manifested symptoms of insanity. On Monday night he asked permission of Mr. FELSLER to sleep in his kitchen, and yesterday morning he was found lying on the sofa, dead, his throat cut from ear to ear. The deceased was about 45 years of age. He has left a wife and several children, who reside in Germany. He was a man of good habits and character.

REV. HENRY WARD BEECHER EXPECTED TO-DAY.—It is expected that the China, which will probably arrive this morning, will bring Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER. It is doubtful, however, whether that distinguished gentleman will arrive so soon, as a letter was received from him recently, which was read in Plymouth Church last Sunday, stating that he had partially lost his voice, and desiring to make another speech in England before his departure, he might find it necessary to delay his anticipated return another week.

A NIGHT WATCHMAN DROWNED.—The body of HUGH ROWE, a night watchman, lately employed on board the gunboat Otsego, lying at the foot of Delancey-street, was found in the water at the foot of Corlears-street yesterday. The deceased had been missing since the night of the 24th ult. He resided at No. 319 Ninth-street, where Coroner WILDEY will hold an inquest to-day.

HEARD FROM.—The ship Continental, supposed to have been lost, 160 days from Calcutta, was telegraphed last evening off the Highlands. It is believed the Continental brings the four seamen who were imprisoned in St. Helena on charge of the murder of the first officer of the bark Lone Star.

ARRIVAL OF EMIGRANT VESSELS.—The following emigrant vessels were reported at Castle Garden yesterday: Ship Frederick, Bremen, 255 passengers; ship Rodger A. Heirn, Liverpool, 200; bark Nord Amerika, Bremen, 254.

TRANSPORT RETURNED.—The steamship America, which sailed on Monday last with a load of conscripts for Alexandria, Va., returned yesterday in a leaking condition.

THE WORK ON THE ORANGE AND ALEXANDRIA RAILROAD.—Gen. McCULLUM has prosecuted the work of repairing damages to the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, effected by the rebels recently, with great energy and success. Eleven miles of the road was reconstructed in seven days, and the track is laid as far as Warrenton Junction. Among the items of work performed were 653 linear feet of bridges, varying from 20 to 65 feet in height; 27,700 ties were prepared and laid sufficient to make a string of timber 45 miles long. Many cuts which had been filled were cleaned, and embankments that had been leveled were made up. The destruction of the road by the rebels was most thorough. Not half a dozen ties were left unburned. Telegraph poles were cut down and the telegraph wire destroyed. Railroad iron was twisted and bent, and in many places it was wound around trees, while heated, so that the trees had to be chopped down to recover the iron. One cut, 100 feet long and ten feet deep, was filled with trees and brush interlaced with telegraph wire and railroad iron, the removal of which was a work of great labor. It was found impossible to blow it up or dig into it in the ordinary manner, and it was found necessary to pick it out of the debris by piecemeal.—Washington Republican, Nov. 2.

TUESDAY, Nov. 3—P. M.

The market for Money to the Stock Brokers continued active to-day, but Bank accounts were made up earlier, and with less difficulty than on the very stringent state of things on the Street yesterday. The Banks themselves are now less reluctant to lend their dealers, at call, at 7 ₩ cent., as under the new arrangement of the Certificates of Deposit which they hold upon the Treasury—now bearing only 5 ₩ cent. ₩ annum in currency—they can either settle their daily balances with each other, or replenish their supply of Legal Tender Notes. The return to anything like decided ease of supply may be gradual, but the ability of the Banks, and the disposition of the Treasury Office to make the market work more comfortably than for a week or ten days past, are certainly not to be questioned. The Stock Exchange, which, though lower in prices was free from panic this morning, felt the change of Monday in the afternoon. Prices at the Second Board were even better than last night's quotations in many instances. At 4 o'clock the improvement continued, and the following figures were quoted as compared with Monday P. M., the general market leaving off firm at the advance. Gold and Exchange steady at 146@146½, and 160@160½ respectively.

The Treasury Office to-day are making payments on the Certificates of Deposit held by the Associated Banks, as far as the same have been presented for Legal Tender or in settlement of Certified Bank Checks for the Popular Loan. Thus far the amount availed of is about $8,000,000. Some of the Banks, which were otherwise provided with Legal-Tender Notes, have not yet presented their Certificates. As the receipts of Legal Tender from the country by express and through the mails are now about equal to the remittances to the country, the City supply at Bank as well as at the Treasury will soon be made to work easy all round. The Treasury Office disbursements to-day are considerably ahead of its receipts, the difference going mainly into Bank.

The pressure of subscriptions to the Popular Loan has considerably abated. The enormous applications on Friday and Saturday last resulted mainly from the general desire to secure the Bonds of the even First of November date, without the trouble of depositing back interest in Gold, or the annoyance of carrying a broken or fractional coupon. The new subscriptions in this market to-day are about as follows:

At Treasury Office direct	$440,000
Through Sub-Loan Agents	1,400,000
Total	$1,840,000

The amount of Money on these and previous subscriptions paid into the Treasury to-day is $2,441,950.

We notice that some of our cotemporaries fall into the error that new legislation will be required from Congress for the future issue of Funded Stock by the Secretary of the Treasury, and that such legislation will be immediately gone into after the meeting of that body, resulting, as the writers assume, in an extension of the 5.20 years 6 ₩ cent. Loan, now known as the Popular Loan. Such is not the nature of the existing authority of the Secretary. The Popular Loan of $500,000,000 is the unexhausted authority of the act of Feb. 25, 1862. An additional authority for funding the U. S. Currency and Interest-bearing Legal Tender Treasury Notes, was granted by act of March 3, 1863; the date (not to exceed 40 years,) and the rate of interest (not to exceed 6 ₩ cent.) being left in the discretion of the Secretary. He can first, however, exhaust $400,000,000 interest-bearing legal Tender, not a dollar of which has yet been issued, and only $50,000,000 sold for delivery to the Associated Banks when issued, before he will be required to increase his permanent Funded Stock paying interest in Gold, beyond the present Popular Loan of $500,000,000. And it is doubtful whether, on the ultimate funding of the contemplated $400,000,000 Notes bearing interest in Currency, one, two or three years to run, he will issue a permanent Stock bearing over 5 ₩ cent.

We make this reference to and explanation of the plenary act of March 3, 1863, not so much to stimulate the subscriptions to the Popular Loan of Feb. 25, 1862, as to disabuse the public of any false confidence which they may entertain of the certainty of getting any more 6 ₩ cent. funded stock after this is exhausted. The facts that this bears interest at 6 ₩ cent. unconditionally only until the 1st of May, 1867—three years and a half from this time—and may at any time thereafter be paid off by the Government (though only in Gold), and the people are eager to take it up on these terms, go to show that a 5 ₩ cent. 15 or 20 years stock would not be impracticable, when required by the future contingencies of the Treasury.

The preliminary injunction granted at Chicago upon the dividends recently declared by the Chicago and Alton Company, has been removed. The dividends will now be paid on both the Common and Preferred Shares registered in New-York, by Messrs. G. S. ROBBINS & SON.

Mr. J. H. TAYLOR, late with WALKER & BROTHER, of the Stock Exchange, has established himself as a Broker in Gold, Stocks, &c., at No. 34 Pine-st.

The day's business at the Office of the Assistant Treasurer of the United States was as follows: Total Receipts, $3,405,071 02, including for Customs, $273,689 91; payments, $9,809,396 49; balance, $34,593,772 61.

The week's exports of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods (exclusive of Specie) were again liberal, having been to the value of $3,240,567, against $4,287,732 same week last year, and $3,332,052 the corresponding week of 1861.

The aggregates of the Philadelphia Banks at the last weekly statement show the following changes, as compared with last week:

Increase of Loans	$497,364
Decrease of Specie	73,715
Decrease of Deposits	699,988

TOBACCO—The movements in Domestic in October, Messrs. M. RADER & SON notice thus: "The inquiry for Kentucky Tobacco last month has been good. During the first week, about 2,500 hhds. Lugs, Low Leaf and Leaf were taken for Spain and the Mediterranean, at the then established prices. when the demand fell off, caused by heavy fluctuations in Gold and Exchanges; and only some purchases were made for consumption or investment. In the latter part of the month the market became more active again, chiefly for the better grades for the Mediterranean and African shippers for England, so that the aggregate sales amount to about 5,000 hhds., at well maintained prices for the better and best sorts, of which the quality now remaining in factors' hands is very light. The quotations at the close are as follows: Lugs, 10c.@12c.; Low Leaf, 11½c.@15c.; Common do., 13c.@18c.; Good do., 16c.@21c.; Fine do., 19c.@25c.; Select do., 23c.@28c., ℔ ℔. The excitement created for the time being by the news of heavy frosts has produced but little effect on the value of our staple, as it was anticipated that it would bear but little influence in foreign markets, particularly as we still have considerable of the last crop to dispose of. Moreover, the estimates of the yield of the present crop come in very heavy, varying from 90,000 to 110,000 hhds., which, if even one-fourth of it should be affected by frost, will give us an ample quantity to deal in during next season. As regards the quality of that crop, the great bulk is said to be more of the lighter sorts—as produced in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and the northern parts of Kentucky. In the Western District, the greatest injury has been done, and it is predicted that very little Tobacco from that section will come to market. In the Clarksville section a good crop has been made, and the quality of a part of it is very highly spoken of. Transactions in Seed Leaf continue on a large scale; and the high prices paid here will preclude it to be an object of consideration to export. The almost exclusive use of this article by our manufacturers to supply the large demand for domestic Segars, entitles it to a high value. However, dealers and manufacturers ought to be careful, in the face of a large crop made this season, and the continued advance in the price of labor and wages, not to overdo it, and again open the doors to a competition by imported Segars. The principal sales were 3 000 cases Pennsylvania and Ohio Fillers, at from 11½c. to 13½c.; 2,000 cases running lots of Ohio, at 19c.@22c., and several hundred cases of Connecticut, at 38c.@55c. In Manufactured Tobacco the speculation continued until the middle of the month, when it ceased for the want of stocks to operate on; prices have since fallen about 3c.@5c. from the highest point. We quote: 5's, 8's and 10's at 45c.@55c.; Navy lbs. at 50c.@55c.; ¼ lbs. and ½ lbs. at 50c.@57c.; Bright work, at 55c.@80c.

WOOL—The movements in this line in October, Messrs. TEELKAMPF & KITCHING notice thus: "The market was very active during the month of October for nearly all classes of Wool. Domestic Fleece and Pulled Wools have been in lively demand at rising prices, which are now considerably higher than they were on the first of last month. Most of the new clip in the interior has been taken, and the last ruling rates there are nearly as high as those of our own market. Ohio, from 70c. to 80c., the latter price for choice clips. California, Texas, and Mexican Wools have met with a ready sale at full prices. The arrivals have been light. Foreign fine Wools have continued in good demand at the advancing prices, and the stocks have become considerably reduced. Foreign medium qualities, though in greater general demand, and sold largely during the month, have not advanced in the same proportion to the finer kinds, or to our domestic wools. There is a good stock of it, offering a good selection at prices comparatively cheaper than domestic wool of similar qualities. Foreign Low Wools have continued in good demand for the carpet and blanket manufacture. There is but very little left of washed Long Wools for worsted yarns; and the unwashed, of which a light stock is on hand, will have to take the place of it until new arrivals of washed wools occur, as they will take the preference. Smyrna Wools, of which we have a good selection, have continued neglected; being generally full of scab and kemp, are scarcely fit for worsted yarns. From the European markets, the accounts are of unusual light stocks, and higher prices for all kinds, even of Mestizo Wools, notwithstanding the heavy stock of it in different markets. The desirable kinds of Mestizo are ruling above the point to bring them here, and the prices of the inferior grades have risen too much to make imports of them advisable. The imports of Wool into New-York since Dec. 29, 1862, to Sept. 28, 1863, were 88,052 bales, 39,332,786 ℔s. The imports of Wool for the month ending Oct. 26, 1863, were 4,407 bales, 1,691,358 ℔s. Total, 92,459 bales, 41,024,144 ℔s.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE ELECTION.

The election in the State of New-York yesterday resulted in an overwhelming majority for the Union ticket for the Executive officers elected this year, and for the new Senate and Assembly. The majority of last year for Gov. Seymour of 10,752 is more than overcome by the Union gain in this City alone, leaving the remainder of the State to figure up a majority against the party of that functionary, estimated, as we go to press, as at least twenty-five thousand.

Massachusetts reëlected Gov. Andrew, Union, by a vastly increased majority, and the elections of less moment in other quarters are to the same gratifying purport of popular devotion to the Union cause.

THE REBELLION.

Our correspondent at Morris Island, under date of Oct. 30, sends a confirmation of the news published yesterday from the Richmond papers, respecting the bombardment of Fort Sumter, which was renewed on Monday, the 26th inst. Under the destructive power of our projectiles the walls were gradually crumbling, and it was believed that they would soon be completely demolished. From time to time four of the monitors have coöperated with the Morris Island batteries in the bombardment. The enemy have replied from their fortifications on Sullivan and James Islands with considerable deliberation, but were unsuccessful either in injuring our works or the garrisons. The three shells which were thrown into the City of Charleston on the 26th have not been followed by others, and the expectation of a general bombardment is, therefore, for the present disappointed. When our correspondent closed his letter at 10 A. M. on Friday last, the firing on our part was heavy and rapid, and under such a continuous shower of metal Sumter would scarcely be able in a very little while to afford even a nook for shelter.

A Washington telegram says that the enemy are ascertained to be fortifying the approaches to the Rappahannock on the northern side of the river. Recent reconnoissances have given Gen. Meade important information of the enemy's strength and position.

A report was current yesterday at Cairo that the rebel Gen. Chalmers had been superseded as commander of the cavalry forces in Mississippi, and that Forest had been appointed in his stead. Forest is understood to have received orders from Gen. Jo. Johnston to burn all the cotton within the limits of his command.

From Corinth, Miss., information is received to the 29th ult. An expedition, composed of the First (loyal) Alabama cavalry, 600 strong, which had been sent to destroy railroad communications near Tolanda, was surrounded by a largely superior force and most of them captured.

GENERAL NEWS.

Rev. Dr. Peabody has retired from the editorial chair of the North American Review, in consequence of his many other engagements, and from the conviction, long entertained, that a Quarterly like the North American should be in the charge of parties who could devote to it their exclusive attention. Dr. Peabody will be succeeded by Prof. James Russell Lowell and Charles Eliot Norton, Esq., and the January number of the Review will be edited by these gentlemen.

The soldiers of the Twenty-third Ohio have reënlisted in a body. The veterans number four hundred men, and two hundred recruits received in Western Virginia—refugees from the South—have also enlisted for three more years or the war—making a total of six hundred men in one regiment. The major portion of the Twelfth Ohio Infantry have signified their intention to do likewise.

The Stock market opened yesterday morning lower than the day before on the sales for cash, but improved again at the Second Board. The pressure for Money among the Brokers was partially relieved, and a gradual return to ease at 7 ℔ cent. is now looked for. Gold is 146¼; Exchange 160 ℔ cent.

Flour, Corn and Oats were depressed and lower, yesterday. Wheat was in fair demand, and prime lots were firmer. Sugars, Whisky, Tallow, Hay, Fish, Oils, and the principal kinds of Provisions were in good request; Mess Pork closed much higher. Cotton was dull and heavy. Pig Iron and Ingot Copper were more inquired for. Freights were quiet.

The Live Stock markets are filled to overflowing with hogs and sheep, and more cattle than can be sold readily. Trade generally fair, but at declining rates. Poultry begins to compete with meat, and, after a surfeit of beef, mutton and pork, for weeks in succession, the more savory fowl or turkey takes precedence, particularly on its first appearance in quantity. Beef cattle number 6,065 for the week, at all the markets, and 4,556 at Forty-fourth-street, Monday and Tuesday. Prices opened firm at a slight advance on good cattle, but closed at declining rates, with nothing left over. Some fat bullocks, very fine, brought 11c. by weight, though very few went over 10½c. and 10c. secured good steers. The average price was 8½c. Common stock closed out unfavorably for owners.... Sheep and lambs are too plenty to sell quickly. Fat sheep are worth 5½c. and lambs 7c. [illegible] lower than last week. Some extra Kentucky sheep were sold at 6c. Receipts, [illegible]. Live hogs are plentier than at any previous market this year. They number 68,[illegible] for the week, which is more than can be sold. Prices ¼c. lower, or 5½c. for the best corn-fed hogs.

The Election—Union Victory.

The Union State ticket prevailed yesterday by an overwhelming majority. In the City, the heavy Democratic majority of last year is cut down over thirteen thousand votes, or about three thousand more than the entire majority of Gov. Seymour in the whole State. The present State majority for the Union ticket is not yet known in its full extent of figures, but the great result and its emphatic meaning are already beyond question. Many of the Western counties, and the great Northern County of St. Lawrence, look, from the partial telegraphic returns received this morning, very like approaching the Lincoln majorities of 1860. And all make a gain on the vote of last year, while the Democratic or Seymour counties of 1862 are as invariably cut down.

The Union cause will have the support of a decided majority in the new Senate, and more than a working majority in the Assembly; and, of course, Executive State officers elected on the present ticket.

At the hour of going to press this morning, we estimate the Union majority in the State as at least twenty-five thousand. The victory is certainly complete.

Mr. Beecher in Great Britain.

Every loyal American, whatever his opinions respecting the past words and acts of Henry Ward Beecher, will thank him for his work across the water. It is no exaggeration to affirm that the five speeches he has delivered—in Manchester, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Liverpool and London—each pursuing its own line of argument and appeal, have done more for our cause in England and Scotland than all that has been before said or written. Mr. Beecher possesses the faculty, beyond any other living American, of combining close, rapid, powerful, practical reasoning with intense passion. His mind is always aglow with his subject, and whatever comes from it, even if does not flash conviction, is almost sure to kindle sympathy. This, combined with his marvelous power of illustration—marvelous alike for its intense vividness and its unerring pertinency—and with his great flexibility, whereby he adapts himself completely to the exigency of the instant, gives him a rare command over a common audience. Even those who hate, can't help admiring, and those most steeled with prejudice have to wince in spite of themselves.

No better proof of the power of Mr. Beecher's eloquence need be had, than the immense efforts made by the rebel sympathisers, after his first speeches, to shut his lips by force. The streets of every city where he was to speak, were placarded with the foulest abuse of him; the newspapers were filled with raillery and sneers; the halls where he was to speak, were packed with gangs of rowdies in broadcloth and fustian, whose business it was to browbeat, and, if possible, silence him. Every available resort was used to stimulate the mob against him; or, if mobs could not be raised, at least to crush him with public contumely. Nothing but the fear of him, or rather of the truths coming from his lips, could have raised this tempest of opposition.

And yet how well he sustained himself. It was a grand spectacle—in St. Georges' Hall, Liverpool—when he struggled two livelong hours against that raging sea of insult, taunt, irony, impertinent questioning, blackguardism, curses, hisses, cat-calls, stampings, hootings, yellings—every possible manifestation of hate, every possible form of disorder—a brave sight, we say, this strong-winged bird of the storm matching his might against it—now soaring up to overcome it—now sinking down to undermine it—now dashing in its teeth—now half choked in the gust of its fury, but always moving onward, and in the end riding triumphant on the very crest of its wildest billows. There has not been a more heroic achievement on any of our fields of battle than the successful delivery of that speech against the odds which opposed it.

And the last speech at Exeter Hall, which we published yesterday—showing that Slavery was the only cause and the whole cause of this gigantic and cruel war—how magnificently and how completely did it sweep down all the sophistries, and the whole mass of rubbish with which the Secessionists have clogged British thought. And with what sublimity of utterance did he proclaim to those Britains the spirit that animates the hearts of true Americans in regard to maintaining this war:

> "Standing by my cradle, standing by my hearth, standing by the altar of the Church, standing by all the places that mark the name and memory of heroic men who poured their blood and lives for principle, I declare that in ten or twenty years of war we will sacrifice everything we have for principle. [Cheers.] If the love of popular liberty is dead in Great Britain, you will not understand us; but if the love of liberty lives as it once lived, and has worthy successors of those renowned men that were our ancestors as much as yours, and whose examples and principles we inherit to make fruitful as so much seed-corn in a new and fertile land—then you will understand our firm, invincible determination—deep as the sea, firm as mountains, but calm as the heavens above us—to fight this war through at all hazards and at every cost. [Immense cheering, accompanied with a few hisses."]

This last speech was only slightly interrupted. It was listened to by the vast throng, not only with respect and good nature, not only with good will and approbation, but with unbounded enthusiasm; and no orator of the day has ever received such an ovation as awaited Mr. Beecher at its close. He had [illegible] ated in the metropolis in most glorious [illegible].

It is plain, from the whole tone of the British Press, that Mr. Beecher has been instrumental in starting, or at least in hastening, a complete revolution of the popular feeling of the kingdom in favor of our National cause. He is the man who ought to have been sent to England two years ago to enlighten and rouse the people. Had this been done, he could have hardly failed of preventing a vast deal of that bitterness which has since, all the while, been fermenting between the two nations.

We may talk as we please about the jealousies and rivalries and dislikes and hatreds of Englishmen and Americans, yet so long as "blood is thicker than water," and freedom better than arbitrary rule, we cannot help an affinity between the two peoples. There may be, as there has been, any extent of misunderstanding—for there are men who are ever laboring in season and out of season to generate and aggravate it—but still it never gets beyond the reach of truth, when faithfully applied, or of a living sympathy when rightly touched. Mr. Beecher, in one of his speeches, expressed himself greatly surprised at the fair disposition of the body of the British people toward the North, because it tallied so little with some of the acts of the British Government; and he comes back, it is understood, with the perfect assurance that Americans have only to exhibit a correspondingly fair disposition toward the English people, to insure a restoration of the cordial harmony which existed before the rebellion. The British Government—whether from regard to the bolder sentiments of its people in our favor, or from a conviction that the rebels have no chance—has changed its policy toward our Government, and now seeks its friendship. It is likely enough that there may be grievances arising out of the past action of the British Government which may hereafter require some sort of satisfaction. But let these matters be determined on their own merits. They should not affect our frank acceptance of fair dealing in the future. We have no right to assume that if we have been illegally wronged, redress will not hereafter be rendered. There is no longer any obstacle to our receiving the friendly advances of the British people with entire good will. Nobody but an enemy of his race can doubt that it is better that the two great free Powers of the world should be friends rather than enemies. Every man who, without sacrifice of principle, promotes this end, is a benefactor. Mr. Beecher, in doing this, while at the same time vindicating our National cause with unflinching spirit, has entitled himself to the gratitude of every right-hearted American.

Peril to Gen. Burnside—How to Succor Him.

There are the strongest indications that the rebels are meditating, if not now actually executing, a movement against Gen. Burnside's force in East Tennessee. The intention to do so is even boldly announced in the Richmond papers. The Enquirer of the 29th October, says:

> "The Federals at Knoxville have not the most remote idea that Bragg contemplates a movement on that city."

The Examiner of the 31st, says:

> "We believe that in a few weeks more the enemy will have been driven out of East Tennessee. Indeed it is highly probable that the work would have been accomplished by the present time if the movements of our armies had not been retarded by the want of shoes; but we have reason to believe that East Tennessee will soon be recovered."

These statements might pass for so much newspaper blague, were it not that a move of the kind is the correct military action for the rebels, and they have generally shown themselves ready to do what correct military action dictates. The openness with which these announcements are made by the rebel papers is also significant, for they would hardly have been ventured upon were the scheme not now actually in execution.

It would be folly to deny that the situation of our force in East Tennessee is a critical one in face of an energetic move of this kind. The rebel plan will probably be to quietly withdraw a corps (say Longstreet's) from Bragg's army, with another corps (Hill's or Ewell's) from Lee's army, and uniting these, while the remaining force in front of both our armies will be relied on to hold them in check, fall upon Burnside with the hope of crushing him, or at least driving him out of East Tennessee. They would take him, isolated by a hundred and fifty miles from all succor, and, with superior force, might hope to gain all they aim at.

The rebels have learned by the loss of East Tennessee the supreme importance of that region, both in respect of its strictly military relations and (a consideration of even more pressing weight) in respect of its productive forces. The Examiner, in the article from which we have already quoted, says on this head:

> "Not until that country fell into the possession of the enemy was its incalculable value realized. Except what was furtively obtained from Kentucky, the whole army supply of pork came from East Tennessee, and the contiguous counties of adjoining States. The product of corn in that region was very heavy, and no portion of the Confederacy, equal in extent, afforded as large a supply of forage and Winter pasturage. The salines and lead mines of Virginia, which produce all the salt and lead used in the Confederacy, and the numberless caves from which immense supplies of saltpetre were obtained for the Ordnance Department, were protected so long as East Tennessee was ours."

This catalogue might be swelled by the addition of the important item of coal, a great portion of which, even the supplies used by the rebel iron-clads in Charleston harbor, was brought from this same rich region. These considerations are vital with the rebels, and the recovery of this region is an absolute necessity. We need not add that its preservation is, conversely, a vital necessity with us.

If the situation be really as critical as every indication shows, the military authorities have not a moment to lose in taking measures to make this important point secure. Reinforcements should be promptly forwarded to Burnside; but, above all, a great diversion should be made in his favor by an immediate and energetic advance of the army of the Potomac. If, as is surmised, the army of Lee has been further depleted by the transfer West of another corps, this will leave but one corps to cover Richmond; it gives Gen. Meade an opening for an advance that has never before been presented. If, however, the detachment has not yet taken place, a serious demonstration against Richmond would retain all of Lee's force for its protection, thus relieving Burnside. In any case, an energetic offensive on the part of Gen. Meade is dictated by every consideration of military prudence.

Prospects at Charleston.

We have private advices from Morris Island, of a nature improper for publication, but which inspire the very highest hopes of the success of the new attack on Charleston. The nature of the obstructions is now thoroughly understood. Our ignorance on this point has hitherto been the main difficulty. The obstructions are not of a character to prove any very formidable obstacle against a vigorous attack by the iron-clads. It is of course possible that we may lose one or two of these vessels in the attempt, but there is very little doubt of its success. Gen. Gillmore's bombardment of Fort Sumter we take to be merely preliminary. It is of the highest importance that we should obtain possession of Sumter (or, at least, the island on which Sumter is built,) previously to sending in the iron-clads, as, in case of the disabling of any of our vessels, this would afford a convenient refuge. We have not hitherto taken a very jubilant view of the prospects before Charleston, but the facts now in our possession make them much brighter than they have thus far appeared.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

Washington, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

PLETHORIC STATE OF THE TREASURY.

Secretary Chase to-day instructed Treasurer Spinner to pay all certificates of indebtedness bearing interest in coin, whenever they should be presented, and whether they are matured or not. The Treasury is so rich that Mr. Chase has judiciously determined to stop interest.

RULES CONCERNING THE NEW ENLISTMENTS.

The following regulations will govern mustering and disbursing officers in their payments of the advance bounty, premium and advance pay to recruits—not veterans enlisted by recruiting officers—for three years or the war, in old regiments whose terms of service expire in 1864 and 1865. To all recruits enlisting as above required will be paid one month's pay in advance, and in addition a bounty and premium amounting to three hundred and two dollars, as follows:

On being mustered in, and before leaving the recruiting station or depot to join his company or regiment, the recruit shall receive one month's advance—$13; first installment of bounty—$60; premium—$2; total before joining regiment—$75.

At the first regular pay day, or two months after muster, an additional installment of the bounty will be paid—$40.

At the first regular pay day after six months' service an additional installment of the bounty—$40.

At the first regular pay day after the end of the first year's service, an additional installment of the bounty—$40.

At the first regular pay day after eighteen months' service, an additional installment of the bounty—$40.

At the first regular pay day after two years' service, an additional installment of the bounty—$40.

At the expiration of three years' service, or to any soldier enlisting under this authority, honorably discharged after two years' service, the remainder of the bounty will be paid—$40.

If Government shall not require these troops for the full period of three years, and they shall be mustered honorably out of service before the expiration of their terms of enlistment, they shall receive the whole amount of the bounty remaining unpaid, the same as if the full term had been served.

The legal heirs of soldiers who died in the service shall receive the whole of the bounty remaining unpaid at the time of the soldier's death.

Veteran Volunteers will receive one month's advance pay, bounty and premium.

THE STRIKES OF WORKMEN AT THE CAPITAL.

The strike of Treasury extension carpenters, masons, and laborers has infected the compositors and bookbinders in the Government Printing Office. These held a preliminary meeting this evening, feeling their way to $18 a week pay, and 8 hours a day work. It is nearly certain that a demand for this compensation and this period of labor will be organized and the public printing be stopped unless the demand is acceded to. Compositors now work ten hours a day, and get sixteen dollars a week. If the Union shall back up this movement, the Government printers will establish their wages in every newspaper and job office in the city. This menaced strike is based partly on the monstrous prices of food, fuel and rents in Washington, and principally on what is alleged to be the little work and big pay of the Department clerks. Secretary Chase has not decided what to do in the case of the workmen on the Treasury extension who struck yesterday. They resumed work this afternoon, and will do so to-morrow, awaiting his decision.

BRIG.-GEN. GARFIELD MADE MAJOR-GENERAL.

To Brig.-Gen. Garfield's tender of his resignation to enable him to take his seat in the House, coupled with the offer to serve his country either in the field or in Congress as the Government should prefer, the President replied to-day with a commission of Major-General.

DEPOSITORY OF GOVERNMENT FUNDS.

The third National Bank of Cincinnati has been made the permanent depository of the Government funds.

APPOINTMENT.

The President, to-day, appointed H. G. Plants, of Ohio, United States District-Attorney for the Southern District of Florida, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the promotion of Mr. Boynton to the Judgeship. This young gentleman has been favorably known as the private confidential clerk of Secretary Chase.

NAVAL ORDERS.

Capt. Benj. F. Sands has been detached from the Dacotah, and ordered to the command of the Fort Jackson.

Capt. James Alcon has been ordered to the command of the Brooklyn.

Lieut. Roderick Prentiss has been ordered to the Oneida.

Lieut. S. D. Greene has been ordered on special duty at New-York.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

SALE OF THE PRIZE STEAMER DIAMOND.

The prize steamer Diamond has been sold at public auction to Thomas Clyde, of Philadelphia, for $16,000. It is said she will be used as one of the new line of steamers to be established between Washington and New-York. There was a large number of merchants and shipowners from Baltimore, Philadelphia and New-York present at the sale, and the bidding was spirited. She is an iron Clyde built steamer, and is very fast.

TROOPS SENT TO THE FIELD.

All the able-bodied troops under the command of Gen. Martindale, the Military Governor, are to be relieved from duty here and sent to the field. Their place will be supplied by the Invalid corps. The One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Pennsylvania has already been relieved, and will leave here to-day.

THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT AT ALEXANDRIA.

The third term of the United States District Court will convene at Alexandria, Va., Monday next. Only a few cases have as yet been heard by this Court, under the Confiscation law. A large amount of property has been seized and libeled. District-Attorney Chandler will resign prior to the meeting of the next Congress, in order to take his seat in the House, of which he is a member elect.

THE FOOD QUESTION.

The Food Question, famous in all treatment of national economy as a science, never had such interest for a people as has the House Question for the homeless and roomless in Washington. Where Congress is to sleep—where eat—where the Third House is to refresh itself with slumber and food after its exhausting labors in legislating for our beloved country—is the sphinx-riddle which is the principal topic of our conversation. It might be libelous to tell the prices that the hotels will charge for board during the approaching session. To convey to the Northern mind a sense of the enormity of rents of $1,200, $1,500, $2,000, $3,000, $3,500, for houses that would shrink out of the society of the buildings between the Fifth and Seventh avenues, above Fourteenth-street, in New-York, one would have to employ photographs of the exteriors and interiors, and borrow from Cologne the phraseology descriptive of smells. From 40 to 120 dollars a month is the price of a furnished room for a single gentleman. We saw a mother, with a babe in her arms, stand aghast, to-day, at a demand of twenty cents a quart for milk, principally drawn from the pump.

At ——'s restaurant, yesterday, the proprietor, rescuing his reputation from a charge of extortion, in a flutter of German rage pointed to the cauliflower in his market-book as costing 75 cents, to the beef-steak 35 cents, to the eggs 36 cents, to the butter 50 cents, and so through the contested bill of fare. Coal is selling at $11, wood at $8, $9, $10. But emerging from these details of the ruin of Washington domestic life, where is the shelter for the people who inevitably will come to Washington in December? No one can tell. Already engagements of houses and rooms in Baltimore have been made. Georgetown is taken up. The enormous prices of lodgings and dwellings all over Washington indicate the demand for quarters, and the demand is not anywhere near its height.

It is estimated that an investment in Washington of $5,000 in a building, on a lot worth $1,500, pays at present rents an interest of 500 per cent.

MILITARY ORDERS.

By an order of the War Department, dated the 29th, the employment of women nurses in the United States General Hospitals will in future be strictly governed by the following rules:

1. Persons approved by Miss Dix, or her authorized agents, will receive from her, or them, "certificates of approval," which must be countersigned by Medical Directors upon their assignment to duty as nurses within their Departments.

2. Assignments of "women nurses," to duty in General Hospitals will only be made upon application by the Surgeons in charge, through Medical Directors, to Miss Dix or her agents, for the number they require, not exceeding one to every thirty beds.

3. No females, except Hospital Matrons, will be employed in General Hospitals, or, after Dec. 31, 1863, borne upon the Muster and Pay Rolls, without such certificate of approval and regular assignment, unless specially appointed by the Surgeon-General.

4. Women nurses, while on duty in General Hospitals, are under the exclusive control of the senior medical officer, who will direct their several duties, and may be discharged by him when considered supernumerary, or for incompetency, insubordination or violation of his orders. Such discharge, with the reasons therefor, being indorsed upon the certificate, will be at once returned to Miss Dix.

By direction of the President, Maj.-Gen. William T. Sherman is appointed to the command of the Department and Army of the Tennessee, Headquarters in the field, and Maj.-Gen. John A. Logan to the command of the Fifteenth Army corps.

The one hundred dollars bounty due at expiration of enlistment, will be paid by Paymasters to Veteran Volunteers reënlisting, upon the usual discharge papers from their first enlistment.

THE CASE OF THE STEAMER THREE BROTHERS.

The steamer Three Brothers, captured recently by the Potomac flotilla, on the charge of violating the blockade by running into the Rappahannock River has been released, it being judicially decided the report of the Prize Commissioners did not sustain the libel.

THE WASHINGTON RACES.

The horses Thunder, Blackbird, and John Morgan were entered for the running race over the National Course to-day for a purse of $600, three mile heats. Thunder won both. Time: first heat, 6 minutes 8½ seconds; second heat, 5 minutes 46½ seconds.

Dissatisfaction Among Merchants.

Louisville, Ky., Monday, Nov. 2.

Great dissatisfaction exists among our merchants because of the requirement to carry their bondsmen to Cincinnati, as a requisite to obtain permits to send goods to loyal southward points, which are geographically tributary to Louisville.

A meeting of merchants is to be held to represent to the Government at Washington the injustice of depriving them of a local officer for granting such permits.

The Prize Steamer Jupiter.

Philadelphia, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The prize steamer Jupiter, from Nassau for Savannah, captured Sept. 13, in Warsaw Sound, by the gunboat Cimmerone, has arrived here.

The Jupiter was leaky and had to be towed into Beaufort, where her cargo was discharged in a damaged condition.

The Jupiter now lies off the Navy Yard.

From San Francisco.

San Francisco, Monday, Nov. 2.

Money is abundant for regular business purposes at usual rates. Operators in mining stock find it difficult to make negotiations, being compelled to pay high interest. Atlantic currency exchange sells at the rate of 48@48½; Legal Tenders, 70@73.

San Francisco, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Sailed, steamer Golden Age, for Panama, carrying about 70 passengers and $545,000 in treasure for England and $230,000 for New-York.

Convention of the National Telegraphic Union.

The Convention of the National Telegraphic Union yesterday elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—J. G. Smith, of New-York.
Vice-President—C. W. Hammond, of St. Louis.
Treasurer—James Patrick, of Philadelphia.
Recording Secretary—A. N. Aplin, of New-York.
Corresponding Secretary—T. A. Davin, of Boston.

The Convention will meet at 10 o'clock this morning, and probably adjourn sine die at 3 o'clock P. M.

Interesting Presentation.—Mr. John Eagan, the one who, during the riots of last July, by his promptitude and heroism saved the life of Mr. Superintendent Kennedy, at the risk of his own, has just been presented with a silver tea-set as a slight testimonial for his services. The presentation was made by the highly accomplished lady of the Superintendent, Mrs. Kennedy, who in a few words expressed her heartfelt gratitude to Mr. Eagan for having saved the life of her husband at a time when it was as much as a man's life was worth to oppose the crowd of infuriated men who were bent upon murdering Mr. Kennedy on the spot.

Heavy Robbery.—A gentleman named Donney, who has been residing in Washington Terrace, Hoboken, missed from his pocket, on Wednesday last, some United States bonds and coupons and some English silver, amounting to about $5,500. Mr. Donney is in ill health, and consulted with his friends, who called in the aid of Chief Officer Edward Monk, who arrested a girl on suspicion, 18 years old, and found the whole of the property upon her. She was taken before Justice Pope, who committed her to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

IMPORTANT FROM THE SOUTH.

Affairs at Charleston, at Chattanooga and in Virginia.

The Rebels Going to Attack Gen. Burnside.

SPEECH OF JEFF. DAVIS.

GILLMORE'S OPERATIONS.

From the Richmond Examiner, Oct. 30.

Official information has been received that the enemy design to make immediately a grand combined and simultaneous attack upon Savannah, Pocotaligo and Sullivan's Island. It is thought probable that only heavy demonstrations will be made against Savannah and Pocotaligo, while the real attack will be upon Sullivan's Island. Still it is necessary that Gen. Beauregard should be prepared for resistance at either or all points. Upon Sullivan's Island are Battery Bee and Fort Moultrie, and should the enemy succeed in taking it, there will be only the guns of Sumter to hinder the monitors moving up and clearing the obstructions from the harbor, whilst the guns of Bee and Moultrie will be turned against that almost dismantled fortress at the distance of only a mile. But Beauregard is ready and prepared for the contest, let it be opened where it will, and there is every reason to hope it will end as did the grand naval attack upon Sumter. At Savannah and Pocotaligo the luckiest of our Generals is fully prepared to receive the enemy.

MOVEMENTS OF GEN. MEADE.

From the Richmond Enquirer, Oct. 30.

There was a report yesterday evening, believed to be groundless, that the enemy were crossing the Rappahannock at Kelly's Ford. This place, at which Hooker crossed before the battle of Chancellorsville, is twenty miles above Fredericksburgh, and about the same distance southeast of Rappahannock Station, the supposed present headquarters of our army.

Gordonsville, Tuesday, Oct. 27.

There was a reported cavalry skirmish at Beale's Station yesterday. The enemy attempted to capture our wagons engaged in hauling railroad iron from the torn-up track. They were attacked by our cavalry and driven off. Our loss is reported at four killed and about forty wounded. The loss of the enemy is unknown. Five Yankee prisoners were brought here to-day, two of whom are deserters.

Gordonsville, Wednesday, Oct. 28.

The skirmish at Bealton, on Monday, was between Johnson's division and a large body of the enemy's cavalry. It commenced early in the morning and lasted over four hours. The enemy were dismounted, and driven back three miles. Capt. S. Savrody Stringham, A. D. C. to Gen. French, captured at Bealton, was sent through here to-day, for Richmond. Two safeguards, left by Meade to protect property on the line of retreat, were also sent through by Gen. Lee to-day, to be unconditionally returned home. The enemy are reported to be concentrating at Warrenton Junction.

Culpepper Court-house, Friday, Oct. 29.

Forty Yankees captured by Mosby arrived here this evening, sixteen of whom are negroes. Mosby attacked a column of the enemy on the march in sight of Meade's headquarters, capturing over forty Yankees and over one hundred mules, without loss on our side.

MOVEMENTS ON THE PENINSULA.

The Yankee gunboats are still engaged trying to find and fish up the torpedoes in York River. As yet they have met with no success, though they express a determination to persevere. The Boston negro regiment is now at Gloucester Point. The report of reinforcements having been sent to Yorktown is said to be without foundation.—Richmond Enquirer, Oct. 30.

"ON TO RICHMOND" BY A NEW ROUTE.

From the Richmond Examiner, Oct. 30.

It is reasonable to believe that the war in Northern Virginia is over. The country between the Rapidan and the Potomac is a desert. Repeated experiments have proven, if anything can be proven, that a march from Washington to Richmond in that direction is impracticable. It is equally certain, from the test of experience, that an advance by the Peninsula of the James and York, or by the "mail route" from Aquia Creek and Fredericksburgh, is impossible and absurd. But one road to Richmond has been untried by the enemy. It is that of Norfolk and Petersburgh—the south side of the James. Some insignificant experiments and explorations have been made in the counties which intervene between the cities of Petersburgh and Norfolk, but no reconnoissance in force. That nothing can be done on the lines of Scott, McDowell, Meade, Pope, Burnside or McClellan, seems now to have been established as admitted truth in the Yankee mind, and it has begun to consider whether Suffolk and the Blackwater offer better opportunities. Those localities were the scenes of Longstreet's failure and discomfiture, and so far furnish encouraging reminiscences to the enemy. Other routes are known, this one only is unknown. The others are filled with predestined defeats: this one has, at least, no Manassas or Fredericksburgh on the way. If another effort to proceed "on to Richmond" is attempted, it may, with reason, be supposed that it will be made on the south side of the James. But that it will be shortly attempted even there, is more than problematical. The United States have met with a sufficient number of disappointments as to Richmond to discourage even the perseverance of Yankees. It is more probable that they will abandon the vain endeavor to capture this capital, and concentrate their forces on the West and the South.

THE SITUATION BEFORE CHATTANOOGA.

Atlanta, Friday, Oct. 30.

No new reports from above by telegraph. The following has been received by mail:

Missionary Ridge, Thursday, Oct. 29.

The enemy have crossed a division at Brown's Ferry, three miles below Chattanooga, and are in possession of Raccoon Mountain, which they are apparently fortifying. A rapid shelling of our camps on the west side of Lookout Mountain was kept up by the enemy to-day, our batteries replying.

No casualties reported.

Heavy skirmishing anticipated on the left.

A special to the Intelligencer of the same date says: "Two divisions, Howard's and Hooker's, came down yesterday from Bridgeport to Lookout Valley, and were joined by Granger's corps last night, which crossed at Brown's ferry, three miles below Chattanooga.

Jenkins' division attacked the enemy at 2 o'clock this morning, and captured a number of wagons and twenty-five prisoners. The enemy now occupy the west side of Lookout Creek, and Longstreet's forces the east side."

The Daily Bulletin, which was formerly published at Winchester, Tennessee, but since the evacuation of that section by Gen. Bragg, has been published at Newnan, Georgia, has the following concerning "the situation in front:"

"With terrapin-like tenacity Rosecrans is holding on to the very strong position of defence at Chattanooga. We have all been expecting that he would evacuate the position after having been so badly defeated at Chickamauga, and his best and only means of transportation cut off—that is, the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, the southern or southwestern end of which is perfectly commanded by our guns, that Rosecrans seems fully to understand that 'where there is a will there is a way.'

Some of the enemy's pickets have come over to ours and offered the most unheard of prices for something to eat, even proposing to give a fine horse for a bushel of meal, or a fine overcoat for something to sustain life for a few days. Such acts, while they go to prove a wonderful fidelity on their part to the hellish cause in which they are engaged, also exhibit the fact that starvation at present is closer upon the heels of that army than upon ours. And so Rosecrans holds on, defying any attack from Gen. Bragg or any flank movement. How long he will be able to thus defy us remains to be seen, but surely not long.

AN OMINOUS ARTICLE—BURNSIDE TO BE ATTACKED.

From the Richmond Examiner, Oct. 31.

For a long time the importance of East Tennessee to the Confederacy seemed to be unappreciated. Not until that country fell into possession of the enemy was its incalculable value realized. Except what was furtively obtained from Kentucky, the whole army supply of pork came from East Tennessee and the contiguous counties of adjoining States. The product of corn in that region was very heavy, and no portion of the Confederacy, equal in extent, afforded as large a supply of forage and Winter pasturage. The occupation of East Tennessee by our own armies was not only important in itself, but it was important also in respect to the contiguous country which it protected. A great line of railway was secured, continental in its dimensions and in its value. The salines and lead mines of Virginia, which produce all the salt and lead used in the Confederacy, were protected so long as East Tennessee was ours.

But the evacuation of that region, and its surrender without a single battle to the enemy, has lost us all these advantages. The railway is broken up, and there can be no communication between Gen. Jones, at Bristol, and Gen. Bragg, at Chickamauga, who are less than one hundred and fifty miles apart, except by a circuit of twelve hundred miles, through Petersburgh, the Carolinas and Augusta. The hogs of East Tennessee, affording twenty-five millions of pounds of pork, are now being slaughtered for the Yankee armies. The vast corn crops and forage supplies of that department, sufficient to winter all the live stock of the Confederate armies, are being fed to the fifty thousand horses and mules belonging to the forces of Grant. The salt and lead works of the Confederacy, and the numberless caves of Southwestern Virginia, from which immense supplies of saltpetre are obtained for the Ordnance Department, are now imminently threatened by the close presence of hostile armies, requiring the presence of heavy forces of our own for their protection.

The task imposed by the loss of East Tennessee upon Gen. SAMUEL JONES, commanding in Southwest Virginia, is onerous. Between the Yankee Generals, AVERILL in the direction of Cheat Mountain, and BURNSIDE threatening from Knoxville, he [illegible] The task is rendered doubly arduous through the thorough disorganization of the Kentucky and Tennessee cavalry, who have been carousing, pilfering and skulking in Southwestern Virginia, under the non-discipline of the Kentucky Generals, to whose tender mercies the people of that country have been turned over ever since the war begun.

Though the Kentucky Generals, who were intrusted with the protection of that important country, gave it to the Yankees without a battle, and although Cumberland Gap was surrendered without a shot by a Mississippi Brigadier, of West Point training, the country, we are glad to believe, is not lost. At the last moment the Government seems to have awakened to some sense of the importance of East Tennessee; not merely as the back door, in the Yankee phrase, of the Confederacy, but as the only adequate source of supply for meat, and as a very important one for grain and forage. We believe that in a few weeks more the enemy will have been driven out of East Tennessee. Indeed, it is highly probable that the work would have been accomplished by the present time if the movements of our armies had not been retarded by the want of shoes. While our brave troops are waiting, as late as October, for shoes, the enemy is consuming ten times the value of these necessary articles in corn, pork and forage; but we have reason to believe that East Tennessee will soon be recovered, even although this should be after all its supplies are exhausted by the Yankees.

MOVEMENTS OF JEFF. DAVIS.

BRANDON, Miss., Tuesday, Oct. 20.

President DAVIS, accompanied by Gen. JOHNSTON, Lieut.-Gen. HARDEE, and Maj.-Gen. FRENCH, reached Brandon, Miss., on the evening of the 21st.

MONTGOMERY, Tuesday, Oct. 27.

President DAVIS arrived here this morning, and leaves at 12 o'clock to-night for Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Thursday, Oct. 29.

The President delayed his departure to-day in consequence of the arrival of Vice-President STEVENS, Gov. HARRIS, of Tennessee, and others, to confer with him. He will leave to morrow for the coast via Macon.

The Selma, (Ala.,) Reporter says that the following incident actually occurred on the President's late visit there:

"A lady, intent on seeing President DAVIS, awaiting his arrival most anxiously at the depot, and, upon seeing him, rushed frantically to where he was, exclaiming, in pathetic accents: 'Oh! Mr. President, will you let the Yankees come to Selma?' 'I assure you, my dear madame, they shall not,' replied the dignified Mr. DAVIS; and thereupon the overjoyed fair one smacked his lips. No dainty 'buss' it was either, but a regular 'sockdologer,' that sounded like the report of a small pistol.")

SPEECH OF JEFF. DAVIS AT MOBILE.

The Mobile Register has the following account of the recent review of the military forces there by President DAVIS:

"The shortness of the notice caused the turnout of the local forces to be less than it would otherwise have been, notwithstanding there was a larger force in line than has been seen on any former occasion. These impromptu reviews are beginning to have the effect of transforming the city companies into minute-men, and they already answer the call for their appearance under arms much more promptly than would have been expected. Though the hour of 3 o'clock was named for the review, the delay caused by waiting for the arrival of some of the more distantly-posted regiments, made it almost sunset before the parade closed.

After the parade was dismissed, Royal-street was filled with the brigades returning to their respective quarters, and about the Battle House, the balcony and corridors of which were thronged with ladies, a dense mass was packed, impeding the march of the troops. Loud and repeated cheers and calls for the President were made, in response to which he made his appearance on the balcony and addressed the soldiers and citizens in an off-hand speech.

He congratulated the people upon the fact—which he assured them he felt to be the fact—that our cause is now in a better condition than it was a year ago. Having just come from the scene of the great battle of Chickamauga, it was impossible that he should not refer to that, and though it could not be expected that he should allude to contemplated movements, yet he was happy to say that the brave men of that bloody field stood ready and anxious to strike the blow which should secure the complete fruits of their glorious victory. He could say more—that he believed they would strike that blow, and that Rosecrans' unwieldy legions would be destroyed or driven for refuge to the Ohio. The same spirit animated our armies elsewhere, and all they needed was to be properly seconded by the people at home to send the hordes of Yankees back to their beloved Boston, or any other place from which the return might be more difficult.

He saw before him a Texas regiment, whose thinned ranks reminded him too painfully of their situation, cut off from the homes to which they should look for recruits, and of their deadly conflicts upon many a field where they had fought as Texans always fight. He exhorted them to be of good cheer. Such deeds as theirs were never in vain, and would surely secure to the country the estimable prize for which they are contending, and to themselves undying honor and renown.

There, too, were Alabamians who, he felt sure, were worthy the name which had been immortalized on so many battle-fields in Virginia, Tennessee and Mississippi. And here he referred to the youthful color-bearer at Chickamauga, who planted within the enemy's barricades his regimental flag, pierced with eighty-nine bullets and its staff shattered. The President had the pleasure of promoting him for his gallant conduct, and such was his modesty, that in presenting his flag to the President, he appeared quite unconscious of having performed anything extraordinary.

The citizen soldiery, also, he believed, were emulous of the reputation of their brethren in camp. He had been much moved, as he rode along the lines, at seeing among them young boys, some very young—and men whose heads were silvered with the frosts of many Winters.

He could remind all these, regulars and others, that they are not common soldiers. They present a spectacle which the world has never witnessed—the best population of the country poured into the army. Such men may be appealed to from other incentives than that of rigid military discipline. The times, the cause, all considerations require efforts which may be demanded of an army of heroes, for such they are.

Besides these, there are some too old to bear arms, but they, too, can do something. Let them contribute their means to the support and relief of those who are contributing their blood; and let those who are too poor for this contribute their influence. There is something that all can do. Self must be entirely forgotten; and let those who are deaf to any other appeal, remember that he who is hoarding up wealth in such a time as this is hoarding up infamy, the mark of which he and his posterity must bear who shall have grown rich by this war."

Change Among the Rebel Commanders—Capture of a Loyal Alabama Regiment.

CAIRO, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The steamer Anderson has arrived, with 200 bales of cotton, and Memphis dates of Oct. 31.

Dates from Corinth are to the 29th ult. The first loyal Alabama cavalry, about 800 strong, which was recently sent to destroy railroad communications near Talanda, was surrounded by a largely superior force, and most of the men were captured.

Obituary.

—Gen. Louis Blenker, who was at one time in command of the German division of the Army of the Potomac, died at his residence in New-Jersey, on Saturday last, from consumption. Gen. Blenker came to this country in 1849, and was among the first to respond in 1861 to the President's call for volunteers. He had seen considerable service in Germany, and very soon after going to the field, as Colonel of the Eighth New-York Volunteers, was made a Brigadier-General. At the first Bull Run his brigade brought up the rear on the retirement of our forces. Gen. BLENKER subsequently participated in the battle of Cross Keys, having previously served in the Mountain Department under Gen. Fremont. He was relieved of command in the Fall of 1862, and in March last was honorably discharged and mustered out of service.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The Enemy Fortifying the Approaches on this Side of the Rappahannock.

IMPORTANT RECONNOISSANCES OF THE REBEL POSITION.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

From reconnoissances it appears that the rebels, in small force, have recently been engaged in fortifying the approaches to the Rappahannock on this side of that river. It is reported that considerable information has recently been gleaned of the enemy's strength, positions, &c., which, if true, will enable Gen. MEADE to take active measures.

The cars now run to Warrenton.

Movements of Our Army—Repairing the Railroad—Re-enlisting for the War.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
CAMP NEAR BEALTON, Va., Sunday, Nov. 1, 1863.

Yesterday we advanced from Catlet's Station to our present encampment. The enemy's pickets are visible from Bealton, but it is believed the rebels are in no considerable force between us and the Rappahannock. A heavy cavalry force, accompanied with several batteries of light artillery, have gone out to-day reconnoitering, with orders to attack the enemy and drive him beyond the river. This, undoubtedly, is intended more to determine his strength than otherwise. It is believed that Gen. MEADE intends driving the enemy beyond the Rappahannock and make that river our picket line, and that the army will remain where it now is through the Winter, without making any further effort to advance this Fall.

The railroad is repaired to Warrenton Junction, and the cars will be running to that point to-morrow. A heavy force is at work repairing the road, and the present week will see it completed to the point we now occupy. The heavy rain of yesterday and last night has hindered the work somewhat, but the sharp wind of to-day is drying the roads very fast. The weather is extremely cold for the season, far more so than last year at this time when we lay near Conrad's Ferry. Wood is very scarce and the men are occupied nearly all the time in trying to make themselves comfortable. Winter quarters is now the word all through the army, but it cannot be that the campaign is closed till another Spring.

Several regiments are enlisting for another three years. The Third and Fifth Michigan infantry, whose term of service expires next Summer, have all enlisted in the Veteran corps, with the exception of nineteen.

They are to return to Michigan, for sixty days, to recruit—this was one of the conditions of their reenlistment. Many other regiments will follow their worthy example. G. W. W.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—DONIZETTI'S opera of "Lucrezia Borgia," will be repeated here to night for the second time, with the splendid cast and grand ensemble that characterized its production on Monday night.

MR. GRAU.—We refer our readers to Mr. GRAU'S advertisement in another column. Our former manager appears to be on the qui vive for something. As he always falls on his feet he will undoubtedly do so in this instance. In the meantime it is interesting to know that he has two artists who are quite new to our public—Mme. VERA LORINI and Mlle. CASTRI.

To-night at Irving Hall the Memorial Concert to the late Mr. HERMAN A. WOLLENHAUPT will take place. It is one of the most interesting entertainments ever given in this City. The object sought to be obtained is a purely benevolent one. It means a substantial testimonial to the parents of the deceased, who are left in an embarrassed condition by his sudden death. Mr. WOLLENHAUPT was esteemed widely as a composer. His productions are to be found on almost every music desk of the country. But it was as a man that he furnished an example to all who came in contact with him. The influence of a genial, kindly nature is seen now in the regret, which is universal, and the desire which springs from it to lend a helping hand to his bereaved relatives. The programme for the memorial concert is singularly rich and varied. Its greatest attraction is Miss CLARA LOUISE KELLOGG, the charming American prima donna, who (unless we are mistaken) sings for the first time at a public concert in New-York on this occasion. There are people who never go to the opera; this will be a splendid opportunity for them to hear the best prima donna that the country has yet produced. Even those who have followed Miss KELLOGG with all the enthusiasm that her brilliant career has awakened, will experience a new pleasure in hearing her in the concert saloon. A new Italian tenor also makes his début—Signor MOUGIARDINI. Five of the best pianists in the metropolis are to be heard on this occasion, a festive opportunity which may never occur again. They are Messrs. L. M. GOTTSCHALK, S. B. MILLS, WM. MASON, J. N. PATTISON and ROBERT HELLER. The members of the Liederkranz have volunteered their services and will sing two of their best pieces. There are fourteen numbers on the programme, among which are the pieces we have referred to, a solo on the violin by Mr. BRUNO WOLLENHAUPT, (brother of the deceased, and a movement from SCHUMANN'S quintette in E flat, played by Mr. WM. MASON and the members of the Mason and Thomas Quartette party. The conductors are Messrs. MUZIO, H. C. TIMM and CARL WELS.

Mr. DE CORDOVA'S annual course of humorous lectures will commence at Irving Hall on Tuesday evening, the 10th of November. The subjects selected by this admirable speaker are exactly suited to the season and the temper of the times; so ready and quick-witted a writer can never, indeed, allow the suggestions of the moment to pass by unheeded and unimproved. Mr. DE CORDOVA is one of the most able men now before the public. His lectures are replete with keen observation and kindly humor. They are one of the Winter luxuries of the metropolis.

THE BROOKLYN PHILHARMONIC.—The first concert of the seventh season was given on Saturday night, to the largest audience ever gathered within the walls of the Academy. The programme included MENDELSSOHN'S "Symphony in A Minor," BEETHOVEN'S "Coriolanus," VON WEBER'S "Jubel," two romanzas by Miss KELLOGG, and a soloistic performance by Messrs. EBEN and APPY on the flute and violin. The orchestral part of the programme was faithfully performed, giving great delight to the audience, who vociferously applauded every movement, with the exception of the unfortunate finale of "Jubel"—"God Save the Queen," or, as it is absurdly designated this side of the big water, "America." Miss KELLOGG was not present, having taken a violent cold on Thursday last. Her place was supplied by Mrs. ABBOTT, a very charming concert singer, who consented, at half an hour's notice, to fill the vacancy. Her romanza from "Trovatore" was encored, and her appearance greeted, as it deserved, with the heartiest applause. Mr. EBEN was long and tiresome. Mr. H. APPY justified his sponsorial appellation, and was justly encored. The concert was a great success.

AGAIN NEW TESTIMONY.

READ.

HARLEM, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

CATARRH CURED.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 23, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a soreness and a dropping. Dr. VON EISENBERG has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. VON EISENBERG is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. VON EISENBERG, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.

JAMES LITTLE,
No. 245 7th-st., New-York.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 8.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. What I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr Von Eisenberg, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disagreeable matter from my head, but he restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. Von Eisenberg's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest commendation, as the principle which directs his system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.

JAMES FURLONG, No. 556 2d-av.

No. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

SIGHT RESTORED.

JUNE 25, 1863.

My daughter brought me to Dr. VON EISENBERG almost completely blind in both eyes. I could not bear the pain nor the light. I am completely cured by Dr. VON EISENBERG, and called now to express my gratitude to the Doctor for his skill and unremitting attention, by which I recovered one of the most precious senses to me after being deprived of it for four years. It is only due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to state that I have tried several physicians in vain. I shall be happy to bear personal testimony to Dr. VON EISENBERG'S unrivaled success to any lady or gentleman who will call on me.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.
READ.

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

BOWER'S INFANT CORDIAL

Is one of the most delightful and efficacious remedies ever discovered for curing the various ills to which infants and young children are subject.

This invaluable cordial is prepared from a variety of the most choice and valuable aromatics known in medicine; and is a speedy cure for colic, cramps and windy pains. It is of excellent use to children that are of a restless and fretful habit; and to those who are greatly troubled with griping, vomiting or looseness, a few doses of the cordial will give immediate ease. CHILDREN CUTTING THEIR TEETH HARD, and thereby suffering intense pain, may be considerably relieved by applying a small portion of the cordial to the finger, and rubbing the gums gently for a short time.

Adult persons afflicted with similar complaints will find the Infant Cordial equally beneficial in their cases. PARENTS AND GUARDIANS having the care of children are requested to make trial of this remedy, as it is confidently believed that, when they learn its value, no family will consent to be without it.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No 50 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send for a circular, or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1840. Those who have used their preventives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

HUNDREDS ARE RUINED BEYOND redemption in this life by not calling on Dr. HUNTER at first; he has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has cured no less than fifty thousand cases. His remedies are mild, and there is no interruption to business or change of diet. Dr. HUNTER is in constant attendance from 8 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night, at his old office, No. 3 Division-st. Charges moderate and a cure guaranteed. Separate rooms, so that the patient sees no one but the Doctor himself. His wonderful medical discovery cures certain diseases, when regular treatment, and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, and possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. It is $1 a vial, with a medical work on Human Frailty, Nervous Debility, Early Indiscretion, and consultation gratis.

AFFLICTED RESTORED! IGNORANCE EXPOSED! FALLACIES UNMASKED!—Highly important to both sexes, married or single, in health or disease. THE ELECTIONS YESTERDAY.

Democrats did not attempt to conceal their chagrin at the turn affairs had taken, while the Union men were exuberant in their rejoicing, and made the air ring with their shouts at each encouraging announcement.

Union Republican Headquarters.

At the rooms of the Union Republican Central Committee, corner of Broadway and Seventeenth-street, anxious inquirers gathered slowly in the early part of the evening. At 7½ o'clock the rooms were crowded, and the meeting was called to order by the nomination of Mr. Charles Spencer to the chair.

Mr. Spencer said it was his proud satisfaction to announce that the Sixteenth Ward had given 14 majority for the Republican State ticket. He said that this was the first time for years that any Ward of this City had given any other than Democratic majorities for a State ticket. [A Voice in the crowd—"Copperhead majorities, you mean."] The Chairman said that he accepted the amendment. Here, some one outside called for three cheers for Gov. Seymour, to which the audience responded by three tremendous groans. The Chairman resumed his remarks, saying that last year he had congratulated a similar meeting that President Lincoln had still two years to run; he now congratulated those before him that Abraham Lincoln had a five years' lease of the White House. [Great applause.] He concluded by proposing that they should sing the good old song of "John Brown." No one appearing to possess sufficient musical ability to start it, the Chairman begged leave to inquire if private Miles O'Reilly was present. While waiting for the returns Mr. Spencer said he would introduce, not an Irish Copperhead, but an Irish patriot, Mr. Lambert. Mr. Lambert said that he had seen in the City of New-York a brutal, ruffianly mob murdering peaceful citizens, terrifying our women and children, a disgrace to our City, our State and our country, and he had seen the Governor of the State standing on the steps of the City Hall call this collection of vagabonds and thieves his friends. To-day Gov. Seymour had been rebuked for that speech. At a Copperhead meeting he had attended recently in Pennsylvania, the leader brought up on the platform an old man and announced him as a Revolutionary patriot. "Are you not opposed to the present Administration?" said the Chairman. "Yes, I is," answered the man. "Did you not fight under Gen. Washington?" "No," said the Revolutionary patriot, "I fought mit the Hessians." "And," said the speaker, "it is the men who fight with the Hessians who vote the Democratic ticket." Mr. Lambert concluded by prophecying 40,000 majority for the Union State Ticket, and sat down amid great applause. Loud calls for Mr. Opdyke finally brought that gentleman to the stage, where his presence was hailed with cheers. He said he came here not to make a speech, but to join with them all in rejoicing, to hear good news, and he was thankful that now at last they had some chance of hearing good news. Calls were made for the Hon. Henry J. Raymond, Horace Greeley and others. None of these gentlemen being present, the audience demanded the song of "John Brown." Some one finally volunteered to sing the "Death of Warren." [A Voice—"Make it the death of Seymour."] The returns from the Sixth Ward were read, the Chairman saying that he hoped they did not want a majority from that Ward, and if they did they would not get it. [A Voice in the crowd—"Them's McCunn's constituents."]

Mr. Angel next addressed the meeting. He said he had been a Democrat himself. He had learned the principles of Democracy from Jackson and Jefferson; now he was required to learn from Wash. Hunt and James Brooks, and for his part he couldn't see it. The battle fought to-day had been against the Northern wing of the rebel army, and he was thankful that they had been defeated. Slavery had been the curse of the Democratic party, and they clung to her as if she had been their mother. The returns from the County of Kings were heard with unbounded applause. After a few closing remarks from the Chairman, the vast audience dispersed quietly from one of the most joyous and enthusiastic meetings ever held by the Unionists of this City.

The Democratic Headquarters.

The Tammany Democracy met at Tammany Hall last evening to hear the returns. Capt. Rynders made a speech, a young gentleman sang a song; there were earnest efforts at cheering, despite the wet-blanket returns, and after a short but, in view of all things, good natured session, the crowd dispersed. It was not one of the old-fashioned meetings on election night which Tammany has rejoiced in, and from the outset there was no spirit for jollification.

A large number of Mozarters assembled at their Headquarters, but the doors were not opened unto them. After waiting for some time in hopes of the appearance of the keys and some of their leaders, the crowd dispersed.

The McKeonites have their Headquarters at Broadway and Eighth-street, but only two or three of them were gathered together, and these appeared to be deeply impressed with the fact they had not succeeded in making for themselves a party.

Arrests for Illegal Voting.

Officer Miller, of the Sixth Precinct, arrested Joseph Wooldridge on a charge of illegal voting, in the Sixth Ward. The complaint was made by John Quinlan, of No. 140 Leonard-street.

Wooldridge was committed for examination by Justice Dowling.

Thomas Rogers and John Wilds were arrested by Officer Morgan. Rogers having been challenged at the Fourth District of the Fourth Ward on the ground of his being a non-resident, swore that he resided at No. 39 Water-street, and Wilds, whom he brought up to vouch for him, was equally unhesitating in swearing to the same fact.

Officer Morgan, however, who was present during the whole of the swearing, happened to know better, and at once lodged an information with the Inspectors of Election of that District, who forthwith issued their warrant for the commitment of Rogers and Wilds.

A man named Samuel Bagley, was arrested by Officer Steele, of the Sixteenth Ward, for voting illegally, also a man named James Gallagher was arrested for a like offence in the Tenth District of the same Ward. In the Fifth District of the Sixth Ward Officer McGee arrested John Stuart on a charge of illegal voting, he was conveyed to the Station-house and provided with lodgings for the rest of the twenty-four hours.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN THE TWENTY-SECOND WARD.

A melancholy accident occurred about five o'clock last evening, corner of Eighth-avenue and Forty-second-street. A man named Dennis Cassidy was removing one of the ticket boxes, when on stooping down his revolver dropped from his coat pocket, the concussion caused by striking the sidewalk discharged one barrel, the ball of which entered the right eye of a boy about seven years old, lodging in his brain. The attending physician pronounced his case hopeless. The man was arrested and locked up by the Police of the Twenty-second Ward to await an investigation.

HONORS TO PENNSYLVANIA.

Serenade to Gov. Curtin—Speeches by Gov. Curtin and Col. Forney.

The presence of Gov. Curtin in this City, after the close of his labors in the canvass in this State, being known to our citizens, a grand serenade was determined upon in honor of the victory in Pennsylvania and the confident expectation of a loyal triumph in New-York. Dodworth's Band appeared before the Astor House at 11½ o'clock and performed some of their finest music, at the conclusion of which Gov. Curtin appeared in the porch of the hotel and was loudly cheered. He said:

SPEECH OF GOV. CURTIN.

Gentlemen of New-York: I am much obliged for the compliment you are pleased to pay to the State of Pennsylvania, and I congratulate you upon the indications that the State of New-York has this day declared her fidelity to the Government. Gentlemen, the States of Pennsylvania and Ohio were a month in advance of you in this declaration of fidelity. But I cannot believe that the Empire State would have been faithless to our Government even if she had not had the brilliant examples of Pennsylvania and Ohio before her. [Applause.] Now, gentlemen, that the battle is over, and as the smoke rises from the field, is it not amazing that one of the greatest Governments in the world—one of the freest peoples—when the nation, enjoying the only true Republican form of Government amid the nations of the earth, was trembling under the rude shocks of an armed rebellion, stricken by its very friends; is it not strange, I ask, that there should have been any difference of opinion—that we were not all of one mind—that all the people of this great country were not devoted in their attachment to the institutions that our fathers—the apostles of liberty—gave to us, and that in this great struggle our people were not united in maintaining that Government. Surely there is nothing in the work of art or nature so sublime in all its outline—so perfect in its form as our system of Government. Surely it has never pleased Providence to vouchsafe so great a blessing to humanity as our great Government. [Applause.] And when that Government is causelessly assailed by the most gigantic rebellion in history, it is passing strange that all true, virtuous, and loyal people were not willing to stand by it. [Applause.] Strange that any politician or any party should seek to get into power by standing outside of sympathy for and support of our Government. [Applause.] But with Pennsylvania and Ohio, and with all the belt of the Middle States running west, to indicate the current of public feeling—with the bright example of California and Kentucky and New-England—we could not do otherwise than to expect that the great and powerful Empire State would wheel into line and stand by our Government. [Renewed applause.] It is no compliment to an American to say that he is loyal. No man can claim especial virtue for standing by his Government; but it is ingratitude—falsehood—crime—for any man North to hold sympathy with the infamous traitors who hold our Government by the throat. [Applause and cheers.] My friends, let us profit by the teachings of recent events. Let the politicians learn from the expressions of loyalty by the States at the ballot-box that the man in power holds his place by an uncertain tenure, and the aspirant for political preferment cannot realize his hopes unless he is faithful in their loyalty to the President of the United States who administers the Government. [Applause.] Let us now understand that it is our Government—and right or wrong—our Government, that we sustain, and that that loyalty which professes fidelity to the Government. [Three cheers for Gov. Seymour in a distant part of the crowd by a party of his "friends," followed by three deafening cheers for Gov. Curtin]—that that loyalty, I say, which professes fidelity to the Government, and fails to give the President—its visible head—sympathy and support, is bogus. [Applause and cheers.] And, my friends, when the free institutions, under which we have grown to be a great and powerful nation and a happy people, are assailed—when we have but one President who commands our army and navy, and is empowered by the Constitution to repel invasion and suppress domestic insurrection—the man who fails to give the President his sympathy is a traitor in his heart. [Applause and cheers.] I have taken some part in the canvass in the State of New-York. Your people are like Pennsylvanians. They listened like Pennsylvanians and they accepted the truth like the people of that great and glorious State. [Applause.] And now my friends, as the election is over, and as right, and truth, and fidelity have prevailed, I will go back to my State and make my allotment for our assailed and trembling Government, and again thanking you for the compliment you have paid my State, I bid you good night. [Three cheers for Gov. Curtin, of Pennsylvania.]

Amid loud calls for Col. Forney, that distinguished gentleman appeared. He made a brief and forcible speech, in which he commented in severe terms upon the course of Gov. Seymour, and pronounced him a traitor worse than Vallandigham.

The Glee Club of the North Carolina, composed of seamen on that vessel, then sang a patriotic glee, and after further music by the band, the assemblage dispersed amid cheers for the Union victory.

Letter from Secretary Chase.

A GIFT TO THE NATIONAL TREASURY FROM AN AMERICAN MISSIONARY IN SIAM.

Rev. D. B. Bradley, of Bangkok, Siam, a self supporting missionary of the American Missionary Association, addressed the Treasurer of that Society, July 28, 1863, as follows:

I wish you to devote $300 of the inclosed draft as a small item of aid to our Government in carrying on the war for the crushing of that most atrocious rebellion. I regard the war on our part as one of the most righteous that was ever waged, and I see the hand of God in it so distinctly, and his merciful purposes for those millions of our enslaved brethren at the South so gloriously fulfilling, that my whole heart ascends to God in prayer continually for our cause. And while I pray, I feel that I must also contribute what I can from my small resources to the millions of money that will yet be needed to complete the great and glorious work of our Government now in hand. Please, therefore, to pay over to the department, as soon as you well can, the sum above named.

I have a son in his twentieth year who would, I doubt not, enlist as a volunteer in the army if he were living in the States, and I feel that I should, in such a case, not dare to do anything to withhold him from it, though it would cost me terrible pangs. He, as well as myself, and his mother, regards $300 as a very cheap substitute for his services in the army one year.

The Treasurer transmitted the money to the Secretary of the Treasury, and received the following reply:

Treasury Department, Oct. 31, 1863.

Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter on the 20th inst., covering your check as Treasurer of the American Missionary Association for $300, "being a gift from Rev. D. B. Bradley, D. D., in aid of the expenses to put down the rebellion."

This noble expression of love of country in an American missionary, who, out of the earnings of himself and family, at his self-supporting mission in the far-off kingdom of Siam, sends so considerable an amount to the Treasury of the United States, fills me with admiration, and inspires me with confidence that a people whose sons in remote regions exhibit such devotion to their country cannot fail in the speedy suppression of a rebellion the most unprovoked and the most iniquitous recorded in history.

I beg you to present to Rev. Dr. Bradley my acknowledgments for the gift he has sent to the Treasury by you, and which has been placed to the credit of appropriations made for the army of the United States. With great esteem and respect,

S. P. CHASE, Secretary of Treasury.

Lewis Tappan, Esq., Treasurer of American Missionary Association, New-York.

Inauguration of the Great Organ at Boston

From the Advertiser, Nov. 3.

The Music Hall was completely filled last night by an audience that probably was the most brilliant ever assembled within its walls, comprising our most eminent citizens, together with members of the literati, musicians, professional and amateurs, connoisseurs, and many strangers from distant places, among whom were the officers of the Italian frigate San Giovanni, which has just arrived in port. At a few minutes past the appointed hour a light prelude was played, but as the audience were not yet seated, the buzzing of tongues was still active, and the heavy curtain not lowered, these preliminary strains were quite lost upon most of the company. As they died away, Dr. Upham led forward Miss. Cushman, whose appearance was the signal for hearty applause. With exceeding skill she proceeded to recite the dedicatory Ode, from the pen of an anonymous "lady of this City," which was well received, although its length was somewhat too great for the place which an ode should fill in such an entertainment. When Miss Cushman had retired to the safe shelter afforded her by the magnificent bouquet which was tendered by Dr. Upham at the conclusion of the Ode, Herr Walcker took his place at the organist's desk, and the great ceremony of the evening began. As the first notes sounded, the massive curtain began slowly to descend, revealing by degrees the broad and splendid façade of the Great Instrument, radiantly illuminated by an electric light which had been placed in the upper balcony, and the powerful rays of which brought out into clear relief all the fine details of the carved ornament. Mr. Walcker, who is not a player, but a builder, of organs, occupied but a few moments with this initial music, and retiring from the seat, the honor of first occupying which rightfully belonged to him, was introduced by Dr. Upham to the audience, who bestowed upon him a fair compliment of the tumultuous applause with which they had just before greeted the unveiling of the organ. Then followed in regular order the several selections of organ music, which were given in accordance with the following programme:

(a.) Grand Toccata in F..........Bach.
(b.) Trio Sonata in E flat; for two Manuals and Pedal;
1. Allegro moderato. 2. Adagio. 3. Allegro..Bach.
By John K. Paine, Organist at the West Church, Boston, and Musical Instructor at Harvard University
Grand Fugue in G minor..........Bach.
By W. Eugene Thayer, of Worcester.
Grand Double Chorus: "He led them through the deep," and Chorus: "But the waters overwhelmed their enemies," from "Israel in Egypt"..........Handel.
By George W. Morgan, Organist at Grace Church, New York.
Grand Sonata in A, No. 3. Con moto maestoso—Andante tranquillo—fugue—maestoso..........Mendelssohn.
By B. J. Lang, Organist of the Old Dutch Church, and of the Handel and Haydn Society.
(a.) "Lamentatio in Parasceve"..........Palestrina.
"Kyrie" and "Sanctus," from a Mass..Palestrina.
(b.) Movement from the Anthem, "O Give Thanks"..........Purcell.
By D. S. P. Tuckerman, Organist of St. Paul's Church.
Offertorium in G..........Lefebure-Wely.
By John H. Wilcox, Organist at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.
Hallelujah Chorus..........Handel.
By G. W. Morgan.

The choice of music and the assignment to each player of his particular share was made, as we understand, by the Committee who made the other arrangements for the concert, and whose intention was to represent at the dedication the grand and dignified schools of organ-music, allotting to the different organists such compositions as were most in consonance with their own taste and practice. It will be apparent at a glance that such a programme was calculated to display the organ's resources in but a single department, and could scarcely have been satisfactory to the audience. There was too much of the great organ about the whole entertainment, for few brains except those of the musicians and cognoscenti are equal to the exertion which must accompany a two hours' fixed attention to selections which tax the full powers of so immense an instrument to render them justice.

Few persons, then, who heard the organ for the first time last evening, had any adequate idea of the variety and beauty of the score of lighter stops which have been chosen from many favorite or fanciful [illegible], and the majority must have failed of thoroughly appreciating the majestic might of the full organ, because they tired of its too common use. It would not have detracted from the repute in which this occasion must always be held to have allowed a portion of the evening for an exhibition of the different registers in solos and combinations, while the great fugues and choruses would have gained in effect by the contrast with the delicacy and sweetness which are as yet unknown even to the most of those who listened most eagerly last night.

Apart from this error—which is, perhaps, a natural one, when we consider that the Directors undoubtedly desired that the first impression made by the organ should be that of nobility and power—the programme was a very fine one, the several organists acquitted themselves with great credit, and the whole affair proved a triumphant success. It would be ungenerous for us to compare or criticise them, when they have had so little opportunity to make acquaintance with the manuals and the stops, many of which latter are inscribed with unfamiliar names, and when they had less discretion in the choice of their music than they might reasonably have desired. Each gave evident pleasure, and encores were demanded of Mr. Morgan, who, after playing his stately arrangement of "The Star-spangled Banner" and "God Save the Queen," was recalled a second time, and of Mr. Wilcox, whose Offertorium, full of charming melody, was a grateful relief to the continued massiveness of what had preceded it.

The concert ended at about ten o'clock, but a considerable portion of the audience remained later to inspect the workmanship of the exterior, the principal portion of which were again lighted up with the electric lamp.

DEAFNESS
NOISES IN THE HEAD,
Diseases of the Eye, Ear & Throat;
CATARRH CURED
BY
Dr. VON EISENBERG,
AT HIS CONSULTING ROOMS,

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 23 Forsyth-st., New-York, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

Dear Sir: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most sceptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America, without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The innate skill you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under a difficulty of hearing or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls trespass on my time and patience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction, causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, unrivaled reputation—that would be puerile; but as a measure of precaution to induce all to call on you at once without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, langour, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectorations of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 25th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,
EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

FRIENDS AND
OF THE BRAVE
SOLDIERS AND SAILORS!
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT!

All who have Friends and Relations in the Army or Navy should take especial care that they be supplied with these Pills and Ointment; and where the brave Soldiers and Sailors have neglected to provide themselves with them no better present can be sent them by their friends. They have been proved to be the Soldier's never-failing friend in the hour of need.

COUGHS AND COLDS AFFECTING TROOPS

will be speedily relieved and effectually cured by using these admirable medicines, and by paying proper attention to the directions which are attached to each Pot or Box.

SICK HEADACHES AND WANT OF APPETITE, INCIDENTAL TO SOLDIERS.

Those feelings which so sadden us usually arise from trouble or annoyances, obstructed perspiration, or eating and drinking whatever is unwholesome, thus disturbing the healthful action of the liver and stomach. These organs must be relieved if you desire to be well. The Pills, taken according to the printed instructions, will quickly produce a healthy action in both liver and stomach, and, as a natural consequence, a clear head and good appetite.

WEAKNESS OR DEBILITY, INDUCED BY OVER FATIGUE,

will soon disappear by the use of these invaluable Pills, and the Soldier will quickly acquire additional strength. Never let the Bowels be either confined or unduly acted upon. It may seem strange that HOLLOWAY'S PILLS should be recommended for Dysentery and Flux, many persons supposing that they would increase the relaxation. This is a great mistake, for these Pills will correct the liver and stomach, and thus remove all the acrid humors from the system. This medicine will give tone and vigor to the whole organic system, however deranged, while health and strength follow as a matter of course. Nothing will stop the relaxation of the Bowels so sure as this famous medicine.

VOLUNTEERS! ATTENTION!!
INDISCRETIONS OF YOUTH.

Sores and Ulcers, Blotches and Swellings, can with certainty be radically cured, if the Pills are taken night and morning, and the Ointment be freely used, as stated in the printed instructions. If treated in any other manner they dry up in one part to break out in another; whereas this Ointment will remove the humors from the system, and leave the patient a vigorous and healthy man. It will require a little perseverance in bad cases to insure a lasting cure.

FOR WOUNDS, EITHER OCCASIONED BY THE BAYONET, SABRE OR THE BULLET, SORES OR BRUISES,

To which every Soldier and Sailor are liable, there are no medicines so safe, sure and convenient as HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT. The poor wounded and almost dying sufferer might have his wounds dressed immediately, if he would only provide himself with this matchless Ointment, which should be thrust into the wound and smeared all round it, then covered with a piece of linen from his knapsack and compressed with a handkerchief. Taking, night and morning, six or eight Pills to cool the system and prevent inflammation.

Every Soldier's Knapsack and Seaman's Chest should be provided with these valuable remedies.

THE SOLDIERS' TRUE FRIEND!
ALWAYS READY.
HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.
SOLDIERS, ATTENTION!

See to your own health; do not trust to the Army supplies, although most valuable. These PILLS and OINTMENT have been thoroughly tested; they are the only remedies used in the European Camps and Barracks. For over forty years Doctor Holloway has supplied all the Armies in Europe; and during the CRIMEAN CAMPAIGN he established a Depot at Balaklava for the exclusive sale of these GREAT REMEDIES; many a time his Special Agent there has sold over a ton in weight of the Ointment in a single day. Those terrible and fatal enemies of the SOLDIER IN CAMP,

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, SCURVY,
SORES AND SCROFULOUS
ERUPTIONS,

all disappear like a charm before these PILLS and OINTMENT; and now, while the cry rings throughout the land,

TO ARMS! TO ARMS!

☞ Read the following brief note received from one of our brave soldiers now in the field:

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27, 1862.

Thomas Holloway, Esq.:

Dear Sir: Please send me one dozen large-sized boxes of your valuable Pills. I have now recovered my health, thanks to the efficacy of your Pills, and do not want to leave this city without them. Please dispatch them by quickest route. Inclosed please find money to pay for medicines, also the stamp duty.

Yours, very truly,
S. R. HARDLY, 9th Cavalry,

For Weakness arising from Habits of Dissipation, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Dimness of Vision, Wakefulness, Pain in the Back, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of Skin.

ERUPTIONS ON THE FACE,
PALLID COUNTENANCE.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on, which this Medicine invariably removes, soon follows Fatuity, Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire. Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases," "INSANITY and CONSUMPTION?" Many are aware of the cause of their suffering.

The records of the Insane Asylums, and the Melancholy Deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion. The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to Strengthen and Invigorate the System, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU INVARIABLY DOES.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
Is safe, pleasant in its taste and odor, and more Strengthening than any of the preparations of

For purifying the blood, removing all chronic constitutional diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Pains and Swellings of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Tetter, Erysipelas, and all scaly eruptions of the skin.

AND BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION.
NOT A FEW

Of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the blood, instils the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood. Such a remedy, that could be relied on, has long been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken.

Two tablespoonfuls of the Extract of Sarsaparilla added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is fully equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the Decoction as usually made.

☞ THESE EXTRACTS HAVE BEEN ADMITTED TO USE IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY, and are also in very general use in all the STATE HOSPITALS and PUBLIC SANITARY INSTITUTIONS throughout the land, as well as in private practice, and are considered as invaluable remedies.
